

Youth On Bike Killed

The fourth Memorial Day holiday fatality in Southeast Missouri was recorded in Troop E of the state highway patrol headquarters at Poplar Bluff yesterday when a 12-year-old boy was struck and killed while riding his bicycle near Perryville.

Dead is Troy Moll of Perryville.

He was struck by a car driven by Albert Dunger, 45, of Scott City. The accident happened one and one-half miles north of Perryville on U.S. Highway 61.

Also injured was Dunger's wife, Josephine, who suffered facial cuts as the driver swerved the car into a ditch in an attempt to miss the bicycle as it pulled from a side road, troopers said.

The death brought the year's Troop E death toll to 52, compared to 45 a year ago and marked the fourth fatality attributed to highway accidents during the holiday period.

No fatalities were recorded during the Memorial Day holiday last year while three were killed during the holiday periods in 1965 and 1966.

Sikeston Soldier On TV

A Sikeston soldier serving in Vietnam was interviewed on a CBS morning news program Friday.

Army Sfc. Jackie D. Armstrong was among those aboard a plane that crashed and burst into flames. No one was injured. Mrs. Armstrong, who lives at 221 Missouri Ave., did not see the program, but friends telephoned and told her about seeing her husband.

Mrs. Armstrong said apparently the plane hit an embankment at the end of a short runway. One wing was torn off.

Armstrong is serving with the 3rd Company, 187th Infantry, 101st Airborne Division. He has been in Vietnam since December.

Mrs. Armstrong will leave June 18 to meet her husband in Hawaii. He will be on a one-week rest and recuperation leave.

The couple has two daughters, Lisa and Tonya.

Developing Appalachia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Appalachian region lies in a long narrow curving band extending from northern New England to central Alabama. It is an area of moderately high altitudes surrounded by the central and coastal lowlands of the continent.

And it is a recognized problem area in the national economy.

Encompassing some 185,000 square miles with 17.3 million people in 12 states it is a depressed area whose per capita income is only 68 per cent of the national average.

The economy of the area declined sharply after World War II and lack of adequate access to the region and difficulty of traveling within the area hindered the many governmental and private agencies interested in developing the region as did an inability to utilize fully the natural resources and the chronic unemployment resulting from changing technology in mining and industry.

Five years ago the Presidents Appalachian Regional Commission was established to develop a comprehensive plan for the economic recovery of the area, which is rich in natural resources particularly coal, oil, gas and timber.

Coal mining has been a major industry of the area for many years, providing about two-thirds of the nation's bituminous and all of its anthracite coal production, but automation and a declining demand for coal reduced coal industry employment by 64 per cent between 1951 and 1961. Now about 5 per cent of the area's total employment is engaged directly in mining.

In an effort to revive the poverty-stricken area Interior Department specialists urged rebuilding its economy by investing the wealth of its resources right at home.

In a 492-page report released early in May, specialists of the Geological Survey and Bureau of Mines said the rough terrain that once kept industry out can be tamed by the bulldozer and is even becoming an economic asset as an attraction for tourists and sportsmen.

The region must find or create suitable sites for industry make them more accessible and provide cheap power based on its coal industry the report said.

To put the region's resources to work at home the report recommended building large mine-mouth power plants that would burn the abundant bituminous coal and provide cheap electric power for manufacturing.

This and provision of factory sites and access routes are critical needs it said.

The report also pointed to future potential of now-experimental processes for extracting petroleum from shale and for converting coal into gasoline. It said there is an urgent need for a search for deep-seated sources of petroleum and gas.

In a summary chapter the report said: If this section seems to be an optimistic description of the possibilities for economic development in Appalachia, it is because that is its very purpose.

Technological advances that have made terran mitigation feasible coupled with Appalachia's rich natural resource base are the makings of a viable self-sustaining productive economy in Appalachia, and accelerated economic development is a realistic goal.

New Moves by Hanoi Hint Shift in Talk Strategy

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam may be preparing to outflank its own barrier to progress in the Paris talks and move the discussion to broad peacemaking issues without insisting on an immediate end of bombing in the North.

This possibility is being studied by U.S. officials. It arises from wording used in the North Vietnamese Communist party paper Nhan Dan today.

Nhan Dan said that before other problems in the peacemaking process can be discussed, the United States "must first of all clearly acknowledge its responsibility to put a definitive and unconditional end to bombing and all other acts of war on the whole Democratic Republic of Vietnam territory."

This new formulation of an old North Vietnamese demand coincided with the assignment of a new North Vietnamese adviser to the delegation here headed by Ambassador Xuan Thuy.

On his way to Paris, according to the North Vietnamese announcement, is Le Duc Tho, 57, a member of the Politburo of the North Vietnamese Communist party's Central Committee.

Disclosure Friday that Tho has been assigned to the Paris talks aroused speculation that North Vietnam might be planning a tactical shift of position with Tho bringing fresh instructions to Xuan Thuy.

This made the Nhan Dan statement on the bombing issue a matter of unusual interest and importance in assessing the future possibilities of the Paris negotiations.

The talks between U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam are in recess until Wednesday Tho who is probably traveling by way of Moscow as other members of the Hanoi delegation have done presumably will be in Paris by that time.

Meanwhile Cyrus R. Vance deputy to Harriman is expected back here Sunday from Washington where he reported to President Johnson on the talks. He left after the fifth meeting last Monday.

The questions about the mission which interest U.S. officials here are whether he is bringing any new instructions to Thuy on new maneuvers by the North Vietnamese in the conference.

Fridays meeting the sixth since the talks started three weeks ago produced no movement toward agreement by either side.

U.S. spokesman William J. Jordan said however the meeting was marked by spontaneous discussion slightly more informal talks and less speech making. But the result was the same he said no action on deescalating the war.

Another development which some Americans found slightly encouraging was that midway in their session of almost four hours the two delegations took a refreshment break. They were served tea and soft drinks by the French staff at the International Conference Center.

This was the first time such a social touch had been injected.

In their formal encounter across the conference table they continued to exchange on the issue of reducing the level of conflict in Vietnam.

Thuy said that if Harriman persisted in demanding some concession from North Vietnam for ending all attacks on that country they would eventually put out a joint communique in which the U.S. would pledge to stop its attacks and North Vietnam would pledge to abstain from attacking the United States.

Harriman retorted that the suggestion was fantastic but he said it could be rewritten to deal with "real issues."

Unit Vote Key Issue at State Demo Convention

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The big question before the Democratic State Convention today was whether Missouri's 60 votes to the national nominating convention would be bound by the unit rule for Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Democratic State Chairman Delton L. Houtchens, a Humphrey man, sponsored a resolution endorsing Humphrey in strong terms. But he said he would let the delegates decide whether to adopt the unit rule.

Backers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Eugene

McCarthy joined forces to oppose any binding pledge in a fight on the floor. Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, campaigning for his brother, said they would use any parliamentary tactic they could to stop the Humphrey drive.

All he got from Houtchens in a conference Friday was a promise of fair play.

Kennedy told a big and noisy hospitality room crowd Friday night all his brother wants is "a chance to come here and meet with your delegates."

He urged Missouri Democrats to go along with Gov. Warren E. Hearnes in opposing the unit rule.

Kennedy forces circulated handbills quoting Hearnes' statement that "I am personally opposed to the unit rule."

"Support the governor!" the handbills urged.

Meanwhile supporters of Sen. McCarthy planned to contest the credentials of some delegates from the metropolitan areas, where they said their people did not get a fair deal.

McCarthy garnered two votes in district conventions earlier, but his backers claimed at least 10 per cent of Missouri's 60 national convention votes if they are not pledged to Humphrey. Kennedy had no pledged votes going into today's convention.

Enthusiasts for the various candidates whooped it up in the hospitality rooms Friday night, with liquor flowing freely and the beat of musical combos stirring the emotions.

Sen. Kennedy drew the biggest crowds. McCarthy supporters were somewhat hampered when one of the two elevators — in their downtown motel broke down.

State candidates also entertained a steady stream of visitors but their scattered hospitality rooms took second billing to the presidential candidates.

In addition to finishing the job of selecting 76 delegates to cast Missouri's 60 votes at the National Convention in Chicago next August, the state Democrats also had the job of choosing a new national committee man and committeewoman.

Sidney Salomon Jr. St. Louis businessman and party angel, was expected to be chosen committeeman succeeding the veteran Mark R. Holloran of St. Louis.

Mrs. Shirley Butters, wife of a Bowling Green automobile dealer, was tapped by party leaders for the committeewoman's job to succeed Mrs. Sally Hailey of Arrow Rock.

Diving Systems Join Sub Search

NORFOLK Va (AP) The Navy has flown two deep submersibles and an advanced diving system to the Azores to explore the shallow waters near the last reported position of the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion.

The deep submersibles, Link Perry and Deep Diver and the advanced diving system, Ads Mark 4, were sent Friday to survey the ocean bottom south of the Azores where the Scorpion last radioed her position May 21.

All three can explore the ocean floor to a depth of more than 1,000 feet. The Scorpion and her crew of 59 were due to arrive at her home port here Monday at 1 p.m. and was declared missing on Wednesday.

Meanwhile destroyers and submarines are sweeping eastward along the 2,400-mile projected course of Scorpion from Norfolk to the Azores. The Navy said the armada is expected to reach the Azores June 7.

While the armada searches a 15-mile wide track three patterns of search planes are conducting visual observation flights along a 100-mile wide track on the same course.

The focal point of the search is now around the Cruiser Banks with depths as shallow as 100 feet, and the Irving Banks, 30 miles south of the Azores. The Scorpion's projected course would have taken it within 3 miles of these sea mounds, or underwater ridges.

The nuclear submarine Gato was scheduled to arrive today in the area of the sea mounds to rendezvous with the deep submersibles.

Vice Adm. Arnold F. Schade, commander of the rescue force told newsmen Friday that the area off the Azores was the second logical spot to search since no clues to the Scorpion's whereabouts had turned up in the ocean approaches to Norfolk.

Asked by a newsmen if the Navy had ruled out the possibility that the Scorpion was on the continental shelf Schade replied "Yes, I think that we can say that."

The admiral also conceded that with each passing hour the situation is certainly grimmer.

Navy divers determined Friday that an underwater hulk located by sonar in 180 feet of water 70 miles off Cape Henry Va. was a World War II submarine possibly German. The hulk had a gun mount in front of its conning tower something the Scorpion lacked.

Schade said the Navy Coast Guard and the Federal Communications Commission are investigating a mysterious voice broadcast heard Wednesday by a Navy patrol aircraft and six surface ships. The broadcast used the Navy's code name for the Scorpion Brandywine.

The admiral said at least eight pleasure boats or fishing vessels using the name Brandywine were in that area of the Atlantic. He said it was possible that anyone might have made the broadcast since the submarine search and rescue frequency is near the ship to shore frequency.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
Government is concerned about the population explosion — but the population is concerned about the Government explosion.

FORGET POOR-MOUTH LARRY
One of these days Warren Hearnes is going to fool around and make a candidate out of Lawrence Roos, a nonentity in Missouri who is the Republican candidate for Governor.

Roos is a glorified county judge from St. Louis County with practically no experience in state government and a questionable record in local government; he knows little about the state and couldn't tell a cotton plant from a rutabaga. In recent weeks he has been running over the state, talking about Missouri's alleged failure to keep pace with other states in all manner of programs. He knows so little about the state that several weeks ago he said all of Missouri's problems were urban and he didn't intend to waste his time worrying about any that might exist in the outstate area.

And what surprises us is that Governor Hearnes has been answering Roos, paying attention to the St. Louis Countian as if what the latter was saying had some meaning or validity. We can understand the Governor's disgust with some of Roos' statements for the county judge has poor-mouthed the state's attempts in practically every field. But Governor Hearnes has an excellent record in office, and he need apologize to no one, Democrat or Republican.

We urge the governor to put forth some progressive ideas for the future and leave the poor-mouthing to county judge Larry. No one is deceived by the political tactics being followed by Roos, and Governor Hearnes is committing a political blunder when he attempts to go around trying to explain the distortions of poor-mouth Larry.

Let the Governor pay attention to the future, for Roos has the past all to himself. Which is exactly the way it will be after next November's general election.

The results of the Oregon primary in which Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota outdistanced Sen. Bobby Kennedy demonstrates once more the appeal of a new face and a new approach in American politics.

The result should give pause to another Minnesotan, Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

There are many Americans dissatisfied, uneasy and worried about conditions prevailing at home and abroad in this country.

Humphrey appears more certain every day to become the Democratic nominee but he will have to radiate more than happiness and strong identification with the Lyndon B. Johnson administration if he wins the election.

He will have to convince the American people that he will do things both differently and better in order to become president.

The primaries have demonstrated repeatedly that there is great unrest in this country among the voters.

The voters not only are ready to rock the boat, they want to overturn it and that they are not only willing to change horses in the middle of the stream, they are insisting on it.

If Humphrey wins the nomination, he has his work cut out for him.

In 1962 highway deaths topped the 40,000 mark. Three years later the figure was 48,500 and in 1966 America's highways were stained with the blood of 52,500 persons.

The skyrocketing figures paused — even dropped a bit in 1967. The year-end toll stood at 52,200, according to the highway accident booklet released annually by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Tragedy did not stop with the deaths, but added 3,840,000 persons to the 1962 injured list. 4,400,000 were injured in 1966 and 4,200,000 in 1967 — a reduction of some 200,000.

The record of 1967 gives us the first appreciable improvement in this respect that has taken place in more than a decade. The satisfaction this gives must be qualified, however, for it will require many more years of consistent betterment before we can claim any genuine progress toward the conquest of a stubborn and tragic problem.

Adverse weather was not an important contributing factor in 1962 or 1967. Records show that last year some 80 percent of the fatal crashes occurred on clear days and dry roads. The remaining 20 percent occurred in fog, rain and snowy weather.

Excessive speed continues to hold top spot in the list of accident causes, with reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the road taking second three places respectively. Pedestrians were at fault in many of the fatal accidents, with crossing between intersections being the top killer.

Youthful drivers hold the greatest responsibility on the highway death list. Almost one third of the drivers in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Wilbur Mills watches out for Arkansas banks and bond holders; Australian Prime Minister salutes U.S. troops; Chrysler Corporation raises cash for political campaigns.

WASHINGTON — While Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills has been pressing the White House for greater cuts in federal spending he is making sure that his own state of Arkansas isn't hurt.

Mills quietly slipped a loophole into the 10 per cent surtax bill, to protect big Arkansas taxpayers—chiefly banks and insurance companies.

The loophole nullifies a Treasury Department ruling that municipal industrial bonds, designed to attract new industries in various states, shall no longer be tax exempt. Mills' Loophole requires that such bonds shall remain tax exempt.

In the past, Arkansas has floated about a billion dollars' worth of these municipal industrial bonds, more than any other state in the union, aimed at attracting northern industry to the south.

Mills' new loophole will mean that Arkansas bond holders will continue to enjoy tax exemption, at the expense of northern industry and the other taxpayers of the nation.

The new Prime Minister promised that it did. He went on to pay a great tribute to American servicemen.

THE DREAM PEOPLE
I HAVE been examining with a magnifying glass a colored brochure about a ship on which I intend to return from Europe this summer, and that gorgeous blonde is everywhere.

She first caught my attention in a picture of the distinguished and deliciously happy crowd in the first-class dining room. There they are — the handsome, tuxedoed young men and the richly gowned women all grinning as though they had just won the Irish Sweepstakes. But the blonde is a show-stopper and the look of rapt affection that she has turned on her dark-haired Adonis is guaranteed to make any man pensive.

THE BLONDE, now wearing a different dress, is seen at the veranda buffet, and there she is again in shorts, draped in a most lubbly fashion over the radio direction-finder.

But what's this? I detect her in the background of a chummy crowd around the cabin-class bar. Did she buy two tickets? And, most confusing yet, can that be she swirling around the dance floor in the modest tourist-class lounge? Is she traveling all three classes?

There's a lively chance I'll meet this blonde. As I come up the gangway she'll be coming down — on her way back to the model agency.

THAT'S THE trouble with the beautiful people you see in the travel literature. They generally stay there — in the literature.

You walk into the ship's dining room for your first meal and pause expectantly on the raised foyer. Alas, the place seems filled with Rotarians from Abilene and Daughters of the Eastern Star. They look hopefully at you and their faces fall. You're not one of the beautiful people either.

But after many ocean voyages, I still dream.

"As Winnie said to me," "Gina is really a doll."

"Ingrid, Princess Grace, Sir Alec and I had the wildest bridge game."

"Jackie took me in two sets of deck tennis."

Alas!

YOU DO, of course, run into some of the real monde. But I drew the short end of the upper dogs. For six days I once sat at the table with an English nobleman who gave me 18 lectures on the inadequacies of Americans while his incredibly dowdy mistress interrupted with baby talk.

There have been a few denizens of the stage and screen. The prettiest was a German actress who spent the voyage dropping names and describing her utterly mad whirl in myself.

THE DREAM PEOPLE
I HAVE been examining with a magnifying glass a colored brochure about a ship on which I intend to return from Europe this summer, and that gorgeous blonde is everywhere.

She first caught my attention in a picture of the distinguished and deliciously happy crowd in the first-class dining room. There they are — the handsome, tuxedoed young men and the richly gowned women all grinning as though they had just won the Irish Sweepstakes. But the blonde is a show-stopper and the look of rapt affection that she has turned on her dark-haired Adonis is guaranteed to make any man pensive.

THE BLONDE, now wearing a different dress, is seen at the veranda buffet, and there she is again in shorts, draped in a most lubbly fashion over the radio direction-finder.

But what's this? I detect her in the background of a chummy crowd around the cabin-class bar. Did she buy two tickets? And, most confusing yet, can that be she swirling around the dance floor in the modest tourist-class lounge? Is she traveling all three classes?

There's a lively chance I'll meet this blonde. As I come up the gangway she'll be coming down — on her way back to the model agency.

THAT'S THE trouble with the beautiful people you see in the travel literature. They generally stay there — in the literature.

You walk into the ship's dining room for your first meal and pause expectantly on the raised foyer. Alas, the place seems filled with Rotarians from Abilene and Daughters of the Eastern Star. They look hopefully at you and their faces fall. You're not one of the beautiful people either.

But after many ocean voyages, I still dream.

"As Winnie said to me," "Gina is really a doll."

"Ingrid, Princess Grace, Sir Alec and I had the wildest bridge game."

"Jackie took me in two sets of deck tennis."

Alas!

YOU DO, of course, run into some of the real monde. But I drew the short end of the upper dogs. For six days I once sat at the table with an English nobleman who gave me 18 lectures on the inadequacies of Americans while his incredibly dowdy mistress interrupted with baby talk.

There have been a few denizens of the stage and screen. The prettiest was a German actress who spent the voyage dropping names and describing her utterly mad whirl in myself.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY. June 3. United Kingdom.
WHIT MONDAY. June 3. Observed especially in the United Kingdom, Virgin Islands.

KNOW HIM WELL
A woman approached the pearly gates and spoke to Saint Peter. "Do you know if my husband is here? His name is Smith."

"Lady, we have lots of them here, you'll have to be more specific."
"Joe Smith."

"Lotta's those too, you'll have to have more identification."
"Well, when he died he said that if I was ever untrue to him he'd turn over in his grave."

"Oh, you mean 'Pinchweel Smith!'"

SOUTH KOREA:
THE BOOTSTRAP LIFT
Take a typical emerging country.

More than one-fourth of its work force exists on incomes of little more than $150 a year; that of farmers averages about $100 a year. More than a million families lack adequate housing.

It is forced to maintain a huge standing army to guard its border with a militant Communist neighbor to the north.

Its first president was ousted in a popular reaction against government corruption. Its present president was the target of a recent assassination attempt by Communist infiltrators.

One American educator described the country this way: "In the United States you see only pockets of poverty, while (here) the visitor sees only pockets of prosperity."

It would all seem to present a favorable climate for Communist subversion and eventual take-over.

South Korea is not a typical emerging country, however. It has had it with communism. The ruthless invasion by North Korea in 1950 remains a vivid memory.

The progress of South Korea's rehabilitation since the war has been little short of spectacular, says the American-Korean Foundation, a New York-based organization that is contributing to that rehabilitation through self-help programs of technical, educational and health and welfare aids.

South Koreans have a "burning desire" to help themselves, to maintain a democratic way of life and to enlarge those "pockets of prosperity," says the foundation.

This, perhaps more than anything else, explains the difference between the success of South Korea and the increasingly dubious outcome of a similar struggle in South Vietnam.

Little girl of six: "Mommy mommy, can I have a baby?"
Mother: "Of course not. You're too young."
Little girls runs back outside. "It's all right, fellows. Same game."

MY POLITICAL CUP
RUNNETH OVER
The politician is my shepherd. I shall not want for any good things during the campaign. He taketh me into the drug store for my vote's sake. He filleth my pockets with cheap cigars and Coca-Cola. My glass runneth over.

He shaketh my hand with apparent joy and gladness. He slappeth me on the shoulder and he inquireth after the health of my family, even unto the third and fourth generations.

Yea, though I walk through the mud and rain to vote for him, he straightway forgetteth me, and though I meet him in his office, he knoweth me not.

Surely the wool hath been pulled over mine eyes all the days of my life.

INSIDE ROCKY'S CAMP:
Rocks' High Command Runs Soothe-Ins to Calm Key Backers Who Believe Drive Is Dead.

New York: — Nelson Rockefeller's top strategists have been holding a series of soothe-ins. Some of his most valuable, knowledgeable and financially powerful people have been complaining that the Governor is running like an empty brook.

But the message at these intimate sessions — one in the sky-high Tower Suite and another at the more proletarian Overseas Press Club — has been to cool it, don't rock the boat, wait for Dick Nixon to make a mistake, stay "fluid and flexible," but get ready to tool up after the national nominating convention if lightning strikes.

At a guarded session last Monday night, some of Mr. Rockefeller's top 50 policy makers on the political, industrial and labor fronts actually asked Bob Douglas, one of his executive suite chaps, if "Nelson plans to pull out again."

The answer, which did little to revive the dispirited political ensemble, was that the Governor is in for the duration, and that Dick Nixon does not have it sewn up because only 15 per cent of the '64 convention delegates will be repeaters this year in Miami.

That figure is a little too low. Actually it will run about 20 per cent, according to one who has counted virtually every nose in every state. The highest "repeaters" have run in recent history was 26 per cent when Dwight Eisenhower was in complete control of a unified party.

Furthermore, some of Mr. Rockefeller's experts point out that since Barry Goldwater ran for president, 46 of the 50 Republican state chairmen have been replaced. They are not necessarily all Rockefeller liberals, but neither are they all bound to Dick Nixon.

After the breakup of the soothe-in, some of Mr. Rockefeller's most intimate associates talked of his disastrous about-face months ago when he decided not to run. They explained it was mostly prompted by his deep friendship for Lyndon Johnson.

Few realize how close they are and have been ever since 1965. It was on Jan. 19 of that year, the eve of the inauguration, that an effervescent Lyndon Johnson swept into the Governor's reception at the Sheraton. He moved almost hydraulically towards the box of Nelson and Happy Rockefeller, embraced the Governor and then with the noisy gaiety of the basement hall drowning out his words, thanked "Nelson" for his help in the campaign. Mr. Rockefeller did not backed Barry Goldwater that season.

Then they talked for five minutes — five minutes more than any other governor got.

And there still is another untold story of that era, lustily.

Soothe-ins or no soothe-ins, many of "The Rock's" people now see a Humphrey-Nixon race this fall — even if Mr. Rockefeller begins hitting the hustings untold story of that era, lustily.

Unless Mr. Rockefeller starts campaigning, issuing white papers, taking positions and hacking away at the Democratic front runners, the Governor's backers will take an early vacation.

CLENCHED FISTS AND OPEN HANDS

Many persons make their way through life reacting to adversity and pressure with a clenched fist which robs them of peace and power. But in the presence of God's love and grace the clenched fist can become an open hand which receives abundantly of the calm, purposeful life God wants to give. Do you need to begin to learn how to open that fist by learning to worship.

Mary Benn Ammerman Pledges Vows With Arvil Van Adams

CYNTHIANA, Ky. -- Arrangements of white gladioli and daisies and palms decorated the altar of the First United Methodist Church Sunday for the wedding of Mary Benn Ammerman of Paris, Ky., and Arvil Van Adams of Portageville, Mo.

The Rev. Earl T. Curry officiated at the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Reed Ammerman of Paris, Adams' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Vernell Adams of Portageville.

Miss Irene Smith, organist, accompanied James L. Clarke of Lexington, Ky., who sang "O Perfect Love," "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Ammerman wore a gown of ivory silk organza over peau de soie with Alencon lace roses applied on the empire bodice, wedding band neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The slender skirt, enhanced with a wattle panel caught with lace motifs, extended into a chapel train. Her veil was held by a bonnet mantilla of Alencon lace.

She carried a cascading bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis with ivy streamers. Mrs. Bobby O. Cox of Memphis, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judith Kay Conley, Middlesboro, Ky., Mrs. William Stokes Harris Jr., Kansas City, Mo., Miss Ann Stephens Richart, North Middletown, Ky., and Miss Susan Dell Tucker, Paris.

The attendants wore powder blue organza gowns with bateau necklines, elbow-length sleeves and empire bodices with draped back panels caught with self-fabric bows. They wore matching bow headpieces with short illusion veils. Each carried a nosegay of lavender and purple daisies and pink sweetheart roses with ivy.

Ringbearer was Robert Reed Cox of Memphis, the bride's nephew.

David L. Wells of Kansas City, Mo., was best man. Groomsmen were Sterling P. Cook Jr., West Memphis, Ark., Ira Hubbard and Bill R. Martin, both of Memphis, and E. B. Orio, Lexington, Tenn.

The bride's mother wore a pale pink linen sheath with heavy and embroidery accenting the front. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Miss Adams wore a light blue silk jersey A-line dress with blue lace yoke and sleeves, white accessories and a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the church. Serving were Mrs. James L. Clarke, Mrs. Jerry L. Stovall, Miss Beth Brandenburg and Miss Nancy Dorton, all of Sikeston.

The POWER of FAITH

In Willemstad, on the Caribbean Island of Curacao, is the oldest synagogue and the oldest Jewish congregation in the Americas. Mikve Israel, which means the Hope of Israel, was founded in 1654, and the present synagogue was built in 1732. Rich in history, it houses many artistic treasures, including a hand-wrought silver Hanukkah menorah that has been used for 250 years.

Visitors recall Mikve Israel as the synagogue whose floor is covered with sand, for symbolic as well as practical reasons. Symbolically it represents two things—the desert on which Israelites camped during their long journey from slavery to freedom and also God's traditional blessing to the patriarchs that their descendants be as numerous "as the sand which is upon the seashore." From a practical standpoint, it muffles the sound of footsteps on the wooden plank floor during services.

To Curacaoans and visitors of all faiths this historic house of worship is a symbol of the constancy of a great faith.

Jaster Flirts With Record; Drysdale Ties 64 Yr. Mark A-State Three Wins Away From Title

Don Drysdale and Larry Jaster both flirted with baseball's record book. Drysdale made it for Jaster well it was a nice romance.

Drysdale the towering righthanded veteran of the Los Angeles Dodgers, pitched out of a ninthinning jam for a 3-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants late Friday night.

It was big Dons fifth consecutive shutout tying a major league mark set in 1904 by Doc White of the Chicago White Sox and breaking the National League record.

Pitching two-hitters isn't moving Larry Jaster back into baseball's record book, but it might be getting him out of bullpen-and that's the main prize.

The St. Louis Cardinal's lefthander might have won his spot in the starting rotation Friday night by hurling his second twohitter in three starts this season for a 2-0 victory over the New York Mets.

The fact that a perfect game slipped from his grasp when Greg Goossen became the first Met to reach base on a two-out single in the eighth inning was disappointing, sure. But Jaster, a 24-year-old veteran of only two-and-a-fraction years in the major leagues, already has his name in the record book.

Two years ago, he shut out the Los Angeles Dodgers five straight times en route to an 115 rookie season.

"It bothers me not being in the starting rotation," Jaster said after winning his third game in five decisions this season and lowering his earned average for 38 innings to .95. He stopped the Dodgers on two hits in his other starting victory and lost to Philadelphia 1-0 last Saturday in his only starting loss.

"They want me in the bullpen because Joe Hoerner is the only other experienced lefty in the bullpen," Jaster explained. "I was aware of the perfect game after getting through the line-up the second time," Jaster said. "The pressure started building from the seventh inning."

By then, the Cardinals had given him a 2-0 lead against hard-luck Tom Seaver, 2-5 with only 19 runs scored for him in 11 starts. Lou Brock tripped to open the third, Curt Flood singled him home and after Tim McCarver walked with two outs Mike Shannon rapped a runscoring single.

"I had been throwing Goossen curves all night and he was looking for it in the eighth," Jaster said. Goossen slammed a curve for a clean hit to left field and Don Bosch did the same with two out in the ninth.

"I always get the one-or-two-hitter," he said. "I've never come this close to a no-hitter-maybe in the Little League one time."

"He pitched his way out of the bullpen tonight," Cardinals' pitching coach Billy Muffett said.

Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 5-4, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 5-2 and Houston took Chicago 3-1 in other National League games, all at night.

In the American League also all at night, Detroit nipped the New York Yankees 1-0, Cleveland bombed Washington

8-3. Boston blanked Baltimore 3-0, the Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota 2-1 in 14 innings and California beat Oakland 3-0 in 12 innings.

Drysdale was breezing along in great shape against the Giants but almost blew it all in the ninth.

Willie McCovey led off with a walk, Jim Hart followed with a single and a walk to Frank Marshall loaded the bases with none out.

Then came a dispute. Dick Dietz appeared to be hit on the arm by a pitch which would have forced in a run. But plate umpire Harry Wendelstedt said Dietz made no attempt to get out of the way and called the pitch a ball. Giant Manager Herman Franks was ejected in the discussion that followed.

Drysdale then retired Dietz on a shallow fly got Ty Cline to ground into a force play at the plate and retired Jack Hiatt on a pop fly. He finished with a six hitter.

Larry Jaster followed with a solid four-hitter and John Bateman slammed a two run double in the Astros victory over Chicago.

Bateman's double with two out in the fourth broke a 1-1 tie and Dierker's pitching made it stand up.

Fred Whitfield singled in two runs in the seventh, breaking a 3-3 tie and pointing Cincinnati to its decision over Philadelphia.

The Phils took an early 3-1 lead on a two run homer by Bill White and a solo smash by John

Wes Parker had two doubles for the Dodgers, driving in one run and scoring another.

Jaster finished with seven strikeouts against the Oets and outdueling hard luck Tom Seaver, who had a 1.91 earned run average going into the game but has only a 2.5 record to show for it.

Larry Dierker pitched a solid four-hitter and John Bateman slammed a two run double in the Astros victory over Chicago.

Bateman's double with two out in the fourth broke a 1-1 tie and Dierker's pitching made it stand up.

Fred Whitfield singled in two runs in the seventh, breaking a 3-3 tie and pointing Cincinnati to its decision over Philadelphia.

The Phils took an early 3-1 lead on a two run homer by Bill White and a solo smash by John Callison but the Reds tied it in the sixth on run-producing hits by Alex Johnson and Johnny Bench.

Atlanta rushed across three runs in the fourth inning then coasted in against Pittsburgh. Felipe Alou ignited the decisive inning with a single moved to second on a wild pickoff attempt took third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly. Deron Johnson singled in another run and an error let in the third.

Willie Stargell's two run homer accounted for all the Pittsburgh runs.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweden won the team championship in the Vanderbilt Athletic Club's International Table Tennis Tournament Friday night, sweeping two singles matches from Czechoslovakia.

JONESBORO Ark. - Three

victories are all that stand between Arkansas State University and its first national championship in any sport! The Indians will compete June 5-8 at Springfield, Mo., in the College Division World Series along with three other national baseball powers for the coveted prize.

A-State will tackle Delta State at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 5, following the tournament iddifter that afternoon at 1:30.

The Tribe, 21-10-1 on the year, has taken two steps toward the national championship by capturing the Southland Conference and Midwest Regional NCAA titles for the second straight year. This year is the first time a national tournament has been held.

Indian supporters realize that ASU may not have as glittering a won-loss record as the other three teams, but they pin their hopes on the Tribe's success as a tournament team and the fact

A-State played 19 games against major-ranked teams, winning 13. In the process, Coach J. A. "Ike" Tomlinson's charges have turned over 36 double plays to break the old school record by two.

All-American, secondstop baseman Dana Ryan, shortstop Jim Callaway and first baseman Steve Morrison have accounted for most of the twin killings.

Ryan is leading the team in batting with a .359 average. He has tied his school record for most stolen bases with 19 and needs only one hit to duplicate the record for most hits (48) which he holds.

Callaway, who starred at third base for three years, moved to shortstop this spring after the starter was injured. The smooth-fielding senior has been on a hitting rampage of late going 16 for 43 in the last 12 games, boosting his average from an early season low of .095 to .268.

Morrison, who was named to the All-Midwest Regional team primarily for his fielding and base running, is second to Ryan in stolen bases with 13.

Left fielder Wayne Pitcock has provided the long ball for the Indians as he has smashed five home runs and had another wiped out by the rain. He needs only one more roundtripper for to etch his name in the record book.

For the year Pitcock is hitting .321 and has stayed above the .300 mark throughout the spring. The speedy Mississippian has also stolen nine bases. The Indians as a team have pilfered 49, only seven shy of the school record.

Another consistent hitter for the Tribe this year has been center fielder Jim Mueller who is batting .290. He needs one double to equal the record of 11 two-baggers.

A strong point of this year's team has been the development of the pitching staff. All five pitchers who have hurled 10 or more innings have an earned run average of under 3.00.

Right-handed ace Rusty Bourg has tied his own school mark for most victories in a season (seven) and has been the No. 1 thrower. He has fanned 79 batters in 93 1/3 innings.

Two other righthanders -- John Ford and John Ferrell -- have each won five games. Ford (5-2) has compiled a 2.50 ERA

while freshman Ferrell (5-0)

leads the staff with a 1.62 ERA. If the Indians win against Delta, they will meet the winner of the Chapman-Atlantic Coast championship game in the semifinals of the double elimination tournament.

Chapman of Orange, Calif., captured the Pacific title and is rated No. 4 among college division teams in the last issue of Collegiate Baseball.

Long Island University, No. 1 in the polls, is heavily favored to win the Atlantic Coast crown this weekend and join Chapman, Delta State and ASU in the finals at Springfield. A-State was ranked 15th in the latest poll with Delta State also receiving votes.

Unser Hauls

In Loot At

Victory Feast

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. AP - Bobby Unser's victory in the Indianapolis 500-mile race brought him a $177,523 winner's check Friday night at the annual victory banquet.

The total purse was $710,219, compared with the $734,634 payoff in 1967.

Unser, 34, of Albuquerque, N.M., will share the first-place money with his car owner, Bob Wilke of Milwaukee. The driver usually receives 40 to 50 per cent. Unser received $109,673 from the speedway, $45,650 in accessory prizes and $22,200 in lap prizes.

Bill Vukovich, 24, of Fresno, Calif., earned rookie of the year honors for his seventh-place finish in Thursday's race. His father, Bill, was killed in 1955 while seeking a third consecutive victory at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Unser also won merchandise prizes, including the Torino pace car, $1,500 worth of clothing and $1,000 in tools.

Vukovich was selected from 1,000; Reed, Atl., 6-1, .857; six first-time drivers at the 500; Carlton, St. L., 6-1, .857. He received $1,000 and a trophy.

MU to Graduate 3,900 Tuesday

COLUMBIA - The University of Missouri - Columbia will confer degrees upon a graduating class of approximately 3,900 members at the 126th annual commencement activities Tuesday evening at Memorial Stadium.

More than 1,000 of the graduates qualified for degrees in January but are considered members of the June class.

In addition, three honorary degrees will be conferred with one of them going to the speaker, Dr. Charles J. Hitch, native of Booneville and president of the University of California. The other recipients will be Dr. Burrhus Frederic Skinner, professor of psychology at Harvard University, and Dr. Barbara McClintock, New York geneticist who was a member of the UMC botany faculty from 1936 to 1941. Dr. Hitch will speak on "Values of Higher Education."

Commencement activities will be packed into two days with the climax arriving at 8:45 p.m. Tuesday when the graduating class and faculty members, clad in traditional academic robes, begin their procession into Memorial Stadium. Chancellor John W. Schwada will read citations of the honorary degree candidates and divisional deans will present graduates of their divisions, for President John C. Weaver to confer the degrees.

The procession will be to organ music provided by Perry G. Parrigan, associate professor of music, followed by singing of the national anthem led by Harry S. Morrison Jr., professor of voice.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Frerking, pastor of Campus Lutheran Church, will give the invocation, after which Dr. Hitch will speak.

Chancellor Schwada will introduce platform guests, after which William C. Myers Jr., vice president of the board of curators, will announce gifts and grants-in-aid received during the year. Chancellor Schwada will announce prizes and honors preceding the conferring of degrees.

B. W. Robinson of Jefferson City, president of the Alumni Association of the University of Missouri - Columbia, will welcome graduates to membership in the alumni association. The distinguished faculty award and the alumni distinguished service award will be presented, respectively, to Dr. Lois Knowles, professor of education, and Forrest C. Donnell, St. Louis attorney who was former Missouri governor and United States senator. After recognition of armed forces graduates, the program closes ROTC at 1:30 p.m. at which with the singing of old Missouri and the benediction.

Brewer Fieldhouse will be kept on standby for use in case of inclement weather forces the exercises indoors.

The opening of commencement activities Monday will include initiation ceremonies of Sigma Xi scientific fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa scholastic society and their joint luncheon at Memorial Union at which Dr. David Fellman of the University of Wisconsin will speak.

Meanwhile, alumni registration booths will be established at the Daniel Boone Hotel for returning graduates, particularly the Class of 1918 which will hold its 50th anniversary reunion. The 1918 class members have invited graduates of previous classes to attend the festivities.

Alumni activities will include the 1918 class banquet at 6 p.m. Monday at the Daniel Boone Hotel at which Paul Hamilton, football captain in 1917, will be the speaker. Jean Madden, field director of alumni activities, will present 50-year medals to class members. The reunion continues through the following morning when the reunion classes meet informally from 9 until 12 o'clock at Memorial Union for coffee and doughnuts with Schwada as the host, and with a reunion luncheon at noon at the Union at which Dr. John H. Longwell, a member of the 1918 class, will be the speaker.

Two ceremonies during the day are planned by the School of Medicine. The first will be a pre-commencement assembly at 10 a.m. at Memorial Union to present awards to medical graduates and to administer in advance the Oath of Hippocrates to 74 members of the graduating class. The other will be a similar ceremony at 3 o'clock for the 50 graduates of the School of Nursing, who will take the Nightingale oath and witness presentation of awards.

Other activities during graduation day will include the commissioning of graduates of the Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC at 1:30 p.m. at which Maj. Gen. Charles H. DuBois of the Missouri National Guard will swear in the new armed services officers. The ceremony will take place in Jesse Auditorium. The military graduates will be recognized at the commencement program as they doff caps and gowns and participate in a brief ceremony in their armed service uniforms.

Salutatorian Bradbury Robinson Crumpecker receives the honor of being second highest in a class of 236 graduates in commencement exercises Friday night at the Sikeston High School Band Shell. Principal Roger Sherman made the presentation.

Thirteen members of the Sikeston High School graduating class of 1918 attended a reunion Friday night at the Sikeston Country Club. Seventeen were in the graduating class. At a recent meeting of the New Madrid county technical action panel (TAP) a proposal was introduced that concerned a beautification project for Howardville, wherein the Department of Conservation in Missouri might furnish trees for planting.

The possibility was considered of a tree planting machine being made in the shop of the Lilbourn vocational agriculture department of the public school.

Members of the New Madrid County TAP are: Richard T. Bartlett, Farmers Home Administration, chairman, Bob Cobb, Soil Conservation Service, June Ransburgh, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Carl Sanders, Forestry Service, Bert Robbins, University of Missouri Extension Center, John Sanders, Vocational Agriculture, John M. Underwood, New Madrid County Welfare, Mary Prentice, Missouri Associated Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. Joe Bartolacci, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. TAP meets each second Thursday of the month. The June meeting will be a dinner meeting at Rosie's Colonial Restaurant June 13 at 6:30 p.m.

TAP is composed of agencies of the USDA and works with other federal, state and local groups to help develop rural areas.

Survivors will be 1 p.m. Monday in Rainey Funeral Home with the Rev. Willie Shander of Campbell officiating. Burial will be in Stevens Cemetery near Campbell.

Killed in Car Crash

DEXTER - Mrs. Gladys Tharp of Piedmont, formerly of Williamsville, was killed at 5:30 p.m. Friday in an automobile accident near Ste. Genevieve. The body is at the Rainey Funeral Home.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - Sand or a burlap bag is an important accessory when angling for Missouri's most unusual fish, the freshwater eel.

The eel, a migrant from its birthplace in the Saragasso Sea, is so slimy it is impossible to get it off the hook without something coarse like burlap or sand to remove the thick mucus covering.

The eel is delicious smoked, fried or pickled.

Thomas R. Russell, Missouri fishery biologist, also reports: "All eels caught in Missouri are females, because the males generally stay in brackish water along the coast."

Farm Labor Bulletin

STATE SUMMARY

Most of the State received rain. Central Missouri needed rain as some planting had stopped. Considerable cotton replanting will be necessary. Strawberry harvest has been delayed and some losses have occurred. Crews of school youth working in hybrid seed corn have been hampered by rains.

High winds on May 25, 1968 destroyed one large building at the Farm Labor Rest Camp in Sikeston. There were no injuries. As of this date, the camp has served 1925 individuals.

Sixteen year round and 1656 seasonal placements were made last week.

SOUTHEAST

Kennett: 405 St. Francis Street - Telephone: 888-4518 Cotton Crop:

In some areas, excessive rainfall and cool temperatures have resulted in some cotton replanting. Good stands prevail in the sandy soil.

Watermelon: Several growers are chopping this week. An average stand exists over the entire county.

Strawberries: The county strawberry harvest is near completion. The recent rains and cold weather caused this to be the greatest loss financially in many a year.

Type of workers needed: None. V. H. school turning out next week we forecast no labor shortage. Poplar Bluff: 211 Pine Street - Telephone: 785-9606

Farming activities have been delayed by rain. All cotton has been replanted or will be replanted. This office has no qualified farm help at present time.

Type of Workers Needed, Farm Hand, General, Openings, 2; Wage Range, $50.00 per week and extras. Caruthersville: 300 Ward Street - Telephone: Edison 8-2416

Wheat and corn crops are, as a whole, good. Cotton areas are showing some damage and most fields are being sprayed to control them. Cotton is in about the same condition as it was this time last year. Several acres have been replanted during this week but several hundreds of acres will not be replanted as most farmers are reluctant to replant this late in the year. A good deal of the soybeans in the black low lands are also being replanted.

Type of Workers Needed, Factor Driver; Unfilled Openings, 1; Wage Range, $1.00 per hour. Cape Girardeau: 231 North Main Street - Telephone: Edgewater 5-6666

Weather continues to be wet and cool. Demand for seasonal labor continues good, with adequate local labor available. Shortage of qualified year-round farm hands still exists. Recruitment of cannery labor continues. Need 25 more workers ages 18-55 for work in Wisconsin starting about June 15th. No experience required.

Type of Worker Needed, Farm Families; Unfilled Openings, 4; Wage Range, $50.00 to $60.00 wk. plus extras. Sikeston: 202 South Kingshighway - Telephone: Granit 1-2731

Sikeston area hit by additional thundershowers - some damage - extent unknown. Demands for workers dwindling. Strawberry picking spotty and workers have reported low earnings. Ample local workers at this time.

Type of Worker Needed, Unfilled Openings, Wage Range: Couples, wife not working, 4, $50.00 per week + house; Couples, wife not working, 2, $1.25 per hour + house; Couple (wife works 2 days), 1, $1.25 per hour + house.

Food, Clothing

Lead Cost of Living Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) - Living costs, led by sharp price increases for food and clothing, rose three-tenths of one per cent in April and were four per cent above a year ago, the government reported.

Prices were also higher last month for housing, medical care and a broad range of consumer services, said the Labor Department.

Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the new price increases supported the warning of Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, that the nation's economy is headed for more serious trouble.

The April price increases pushed the consumer price index to 119.9. This means it cost $11.99 in April for typical consumer goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

At the same time, the wholesale price index for farm products, processed foods and industrial raw materials rose one-tenth of one per cent to 108.3.

Chase said most of the price increases resulted from strong demand and higher wages, and that the prospects were for a continued increase.

The bureau also reported that average wages for some 45 million rank and file workers rose two cents an hour to $2.79 in April and weekly earnings hit a record high of $104.63.

Drew Pearson Special

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Businessmen don't need to fear Bobby Kennedy; he fought for gas combine when Attorney General; Supreme Court and courageous California commissioner won out.

WASHINGTON -- If American businessmen are worried about Bobby Kennedy as President, they should forget it. As Attorney General, Bobby leaned over backward to protect one of the biggest gas monopolies in the U.S.A. Generally he was more tolerant on antitrust cases than the Eisenhower administration, generally considered to be the friend of big business.

One of the most interesting and little known testimonials to Bobby Kennedy, as far as business is concerned, is the story of his defense of the biggest pipeline company in the Far West - El Paso Natural Gas - and its monopoly position as a gas supplier to the people of California.

The story begins during the Eisenhower administration in 1959 when the Federal Power Commission, then packed with friends of gas and oil, put its stamp of approval on a merger between El Paso Natural Gas and Pacific Northwest Gas, which would have made El Paso the sole supplier to California and the Pacific Coast.

This aroused the ire of William Bennett, chairman of California's Public Utility Commission, who appealed the decision to the U. S. Court of Appeals. Lee Rankin, Eisenhower's solicitor general, backed Bennett up. They lost. The state of California then appealed to the Supreme Court.

At this point, John F. Kennedy was running for President, and commissioner Bennett became one of his advance men. He got to know the Kennedy entourage, and looked forward to antitrust cooperation when the Kennedy family got into power.

He was disappointed. When commissioner Bennett asked the new Democratic solicitor general, Archibald Cox, to join him in his appeal to the Supreme Court, Cox said no.

BOBBY SAYS NO Bennett then appealed to Robert F. Kennedy, the new attorney general, who also said no. Figuring that Kennedy did not know the significance of the situation and the monopoly hold which El Paso gas would have on gas prices on the Pacific Coast, Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, then Governor of California, also wrote to Attorney General Kennedy. Again Bobby said no.

"Early in 1961 I talked to Bobby Kennedy at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco," says commissioner Bennett. "I tried to explain the importance of this monopoly to the people of California. But I got nowhere. I told Kennedy all I wanted him to do was not to oppose our petition to the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. But Bobby said no."

The state of California filed its petition anyway, and believe it or not the Kennedy administration appeared before the supreme court and argued against California, on the side of the power commission's ruling for El Paso Natural Gas.

Attorney for El Paso was Arthur Dean of the Wall Street Law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. This firm had been retained by El Paso during the Eisenhower administration when its senior partner, John Foster Dulles, was secretary of state.

But the Kennedy administration, under Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, went into court on the side of Sullivan & Cromwell and gave the El Paso - Pacific Northwest merger an okay.

The Supreme Court, however, ruled otherwise. The decision was written by Justice William O. Douglas, intimate friend of Bobby Kennedy, who used the words: "The department of justice knuckled under to the El Paso Natural Gas Company." The department of justice to which he referred was, of course, under Robert F. Kennedy. The decision ordered the merger between El Paso and Pacific Northwest set aside.

HIKING GAS RATES If the court had not done this, there would be a complete gas monopoly on the Pacific Coast all the way from Canada to Mexico and from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains. As an illustration of how this affected consumers, El Paso put across four rate increases against its most prosperous customer, the state of California, before the Supreme Court ruled.

This, however, is not the end of the story.

After the Supreme Court set aside the merger, commissioner Bennett went before the Federal Power Commission and argued that El Paso had no right to increase rates as the result of an illegal merger. FPC agreed with him and ordered El Paso to pay back to the people of California a total of $155 million. It was the biggest rate rebate in the history of the United States.

"I saw Cox twice," commissioner Bennett recalls, revering to the No. 2 man in the Justice Department under Bobby Kennedy. "I got down on my knees and begged him to support California in opposing this merger. He said that the Attorney General felt a little monopoly wouldn't hurt anything."

"You know the power of these boys," I told him. But I got no help from the Kennedy administration whatsoever. Our help came from Attorney General Brownell under Eisenhower.

"Today the man who was head of the antitrust division under Bobby Kennedy, William Orrick, is now a Kennedy delegate for Bobby in California," recalls commissioner Bennett. "He did Bobby's bidding in California now."

Note: The Supreme Court has now handed down a total of three decisions against the El Paso Natural Gas battle for a Far

West monopoly. In its last decision, the court removed U.S. Judge Walter Ritter of Salt Lake City because he had shown prejudice. U.S. Judge Hatfield Chilson has replaced him and will soon pick a buyer for Pacific Northwest Pipeline. This will mean gas competition in the Far West.

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) - The former professor eyed suspiciously the door of a hotel suite.

"I may be killed any day-but there will be victory," said Eduardo Mondlane, 47-year-old leader of an East African group seeking to wrest Mozambique from Portuguese rule.

The odds are against him, but he is used to overcoming odds. His front for the liberation of Mozambique, Frelimo, went into action in 1964 with 250 armed men. Today it claims to be able to field a force of 10,000 men-and to have knocked out 6,000 Portuguese troops. But Frelimo is not without inside stresses.

Mozambique is the East African outpost of Portuguese rule. The United Nations General Assembly has condemned Portugal's refusal to free it along with Angola and Portuguese Guinea on the west coast. Portugal denies they are colonies, and says the opportunities of Portuguese citizenship are open to all the people.

Mondlane is a native of Mozambique who was educated in South Africa and at Harvard and once taught anthropology at Syracuse University in New York.

The Portuguese admit to having an army of 42,000 in Mozambique. Mondlane says the figure is closer to 65,000. "It is not the soldiers we are concerned about; it is the airplanes," he says, adding that anti-aircraft weapons are expected soon.

His group claims control of the northern province of Niassa - "We control the border. The Portuguese army is in garrison and come and go by air." Mondlane says. He says he was in Mozambique in mid-May and his men also are active in the provinces of Cabo Delgado, Tete and Zambezia.

Arms come from sympathetic countries, including Communist China, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia as well as African countries offering British and Belgian weapons.

Frelimo operates a school in Tanzania to prepare leaders for the day when it hopes Portuguese rule is ended.

Definite authorship of the Epistle to the Hebrews in the New Testament is unknown. It has been credited to Barnabas, Apollo and the Apostle Paul.

Dear Sir:

Apathy is the most crippling of afflictions from which a populace may suffer. The apathetic, nonchalant and others who refuse to care, belong to the cults that cannot be expected to know, and apathy is their convenient alibi for failure to know. The truth-side's greatest danger comes from those who are indifferent, unconcerned, listless and numb. The nation needs for them to "choose a side."

Stooges and dupes are not apathetic; they are deceived rather than uninformed. Some of them could be won over and become valuable partisans for freedom, as they are people who like to "get in on the act." Converts are known for their zeal, and when imbued with accurate knowledge, former dupes may recognize "it could happen here," concern themselves with what they find happening and become valiant troops in the pending battle for the survival of our Republic.

Dear Sir:

As the last issue of the Barker comes off the press, we of the Barker staff wish to thank you for the use of your facilities and the invaluable help of your employees.

Without your help, it would have been impossible for us to present the Barker to the students of Sikeston High School.

Without the interest your personnel took in the staff and its work, we could not pride the Barker nearly so much as we do.

We sincerely hope you will continue to allow the Barker to be published at the Daily Sikeston plant.

Again, we appreciate all you have done to help us. Thank you.

Sincerely,
The Barker Staff

To the Editor:

Members of Congress have taken the oath to defend the Constitution and feel obligations to their constituents. People want to convey their wishes to their Members of Congress. MCs read all letters to the editor in publications they believe their constituents read, but do not have time to personally read letters written to them. A fine way to reach MCs is to write a brief letter to the editor, causing three to six friends to append their signature, address and telephone number to a copy of it, affixing above their signature on the copy "We concur," and send this copy to the MCs you believe are interested in your views. If never published, your letter is worth far more than the 6 cents cost of mailing it. It will be read by a member of the staff and can affect future policies of the publication. If you are not gifted in writing, ask an acquaintance to help prepare the letter. Your message will then begin bearing weight even while being written.

HORRIBLE, THOSE SLUMPS
HIALEAH, Fla. (AP) When jockey Earle Fires lost with favored In Reality in the Seminole Handicap here he ran into a losing streak of 31 straight defeats.

"It's too bad," said trainer Sunshine Calvert, a former jockey who trains In Reality.

"I was riding so bad once a trainer asked me before the race, 'Do me a favor. Try and finish with the horse, will ya?'"

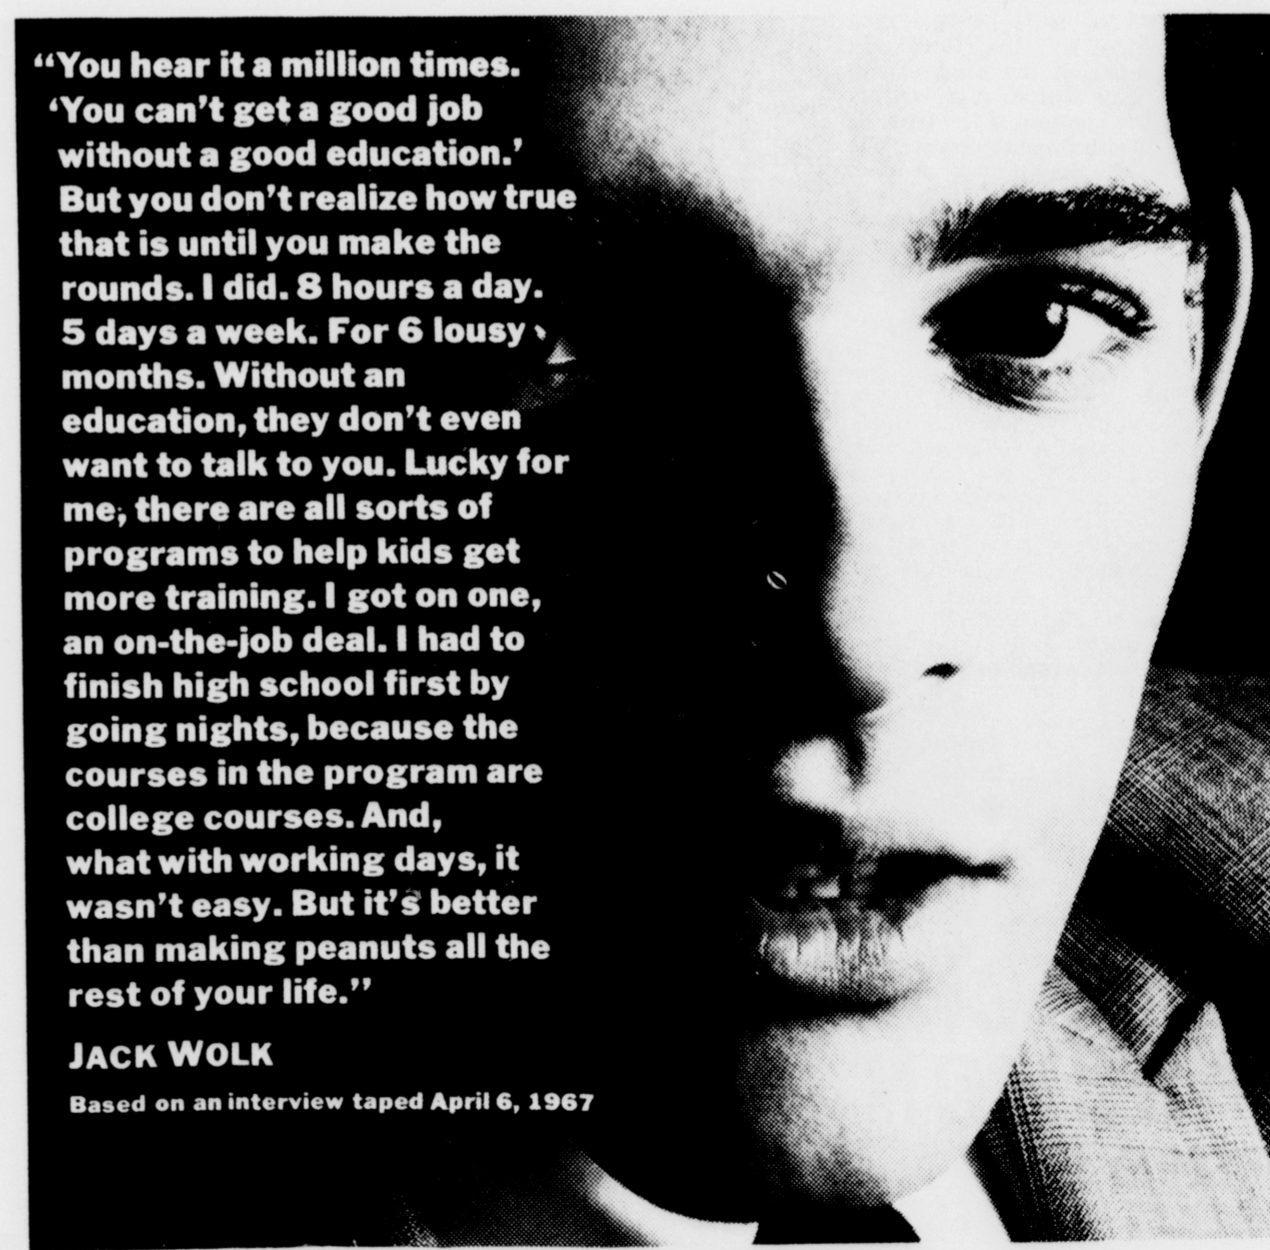

Cook thin steaks in butter in a skillet; remove the steaks to a platter and keep warm. Add a little butter to the pan along with some red wine; stir well and simmer about 5 minutes; pour over steaks. Seasonings should be added to the steaks or the sauce to suit your own taste.

If you think staying in school is tough, listen to someone who quit.

"You hear it a million times. 'You can't get a good job without a good education.' But you don't realize how true that is until you make the rounds. I did. 8 hours a day. 5 days a week. For 6 lousy months. Without an education, they don't even want to talk to you. Lucky for me, there are all sorts of programs to help kids get more training. I got on one, an on-the-job deal. I had to finish high school first by going nights, because the courses in the program are college courses. And, what with working days, it wasn't easy. But it's better than making peanuts all the rest of your life."

Skilled at Sightless Housekeeping

ADEPT. . . Betty Allred, blind for 10 years, has mastered multitude of household tasks, is better cook than before, says her husband.

TULSA (AP)—People with good eyes sometimes see less of the world and the people in it than the person who is blind. Sighted people often fail to hear, smell and feel. They sometimes just look.

That is the opinion of Mrs. Betty Allred of Tulsa, who has been blind for 10 years from the effects of diabetes.

"For instance," she says, "a blind person is not fooled by a person's appearance like a sighted person is. He looks for other clues of character than what he can see, and they are more revealing."

Mrs. Allred, busy wife of KAKC radio executive Bill Allred, has found that even house-keeping and cooking can be more fun for a blind person who makes her difficulties her servants rather than her masters.

She learned the art of sightless housekeeping at the readjustment center for the blind in Little Rock, Ark. The four-month course has made it possible for her to be independent.

college. She is active in church and civic affairs.

How does a blind person pour tea?

"You hold your hand around the cup and feel the heat come up the cup," she says.

For cooking she uses the feel of heat and the sound of cooking as her guides. Bacon is crisp when it quits sizzling and pork chops are done when they quit popping.

In her pantry each item has a little Braille tape on it that is hung on a hook for her to use in making her grocery list when the contents are gone. She tries to put everything away herself so she knows where it is.

"Boy, does that make you a housekeeper," she says. "One little mixup and you are washing dishes in rice crispies."

Is there anything she cannot do?

"They took away my driver's license," she says, laughing. "And I guess it is a good thing they did. I kept it for two years after I couldn't drive any more. Like a teen-age kid, I think it was a symbol to me."

Language Died Out

The use of Aramaic, the language probably spoken by Jesus, died out in the 7th century of the Christian era. Arabic took its place, except in a few isolated villages.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PRETTY NEW ENGLAND-STYLE ranch house has a fine option for a home office or private study, or even a third bedroom. The kitchen is at the front. The big Palladian window is in the dining room. The through living room has a window wall overlooking a sheltered terrace. The chimney and cupola add to the Colonial look. Plan HA538B has 1,080 square feet of living area. It was designed by Architect John Burrows, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York, N.Y. 10036

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR AP Newsfeatures

Once again, New York's camera fans had a five-day opportunity to indulge in their hobby's varied facets at the 1968 International Photography & Travel Fair held in the Coliseum.

For one admission there were educational lectures, movies and slide shows, costumed models to photograph, entertainment, the latest in equipment, demonstrations and fine photographic exhibitions on display.

Photographic gatherings of this nature give a fan an individual chance to choose inspiration, application or information according to his specific interests.

Actually, too many spectators drift along haphazardly, seeing only what they happen to come across. A wiser plan is to obtain a program, study the offerings and select the particular speakers, exhibitions, slide and movie shows which interest you. Make a point of arranging your time to include them.

One of the most popular features this year was Kodak's special 30-minute slide tour of the world. There was theater at each of the three daily showings of "Around the World in Pictures." It utilized six projectors to fill three giant screens with impressive panoramic views or separate images along with appropriate sound effects and live narration.

The pictures were a practical demonstration of how to take good travel pictures. I hope many of the audiences learned that it is worth the effort to try to take pictures at the moment you are impressed with a scene, especially at sunset and when natives are absorbed in their own activities. The authenticity of natural action is so obvious that one wonders why American tourists continually persist in pointing their cameras and commanding subjects to "Look in the camera!"

Among the outstanding exhibitions were Robert B. Goodman's exciting views

Marine Found Guilty of Killing Viet Woman

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Marine Cpl. Stanley J. Luczko Jr., 22, has been convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of an elderly Vietnamese woman while Luczko was on a patrol.

The eight-officer Marine court-martial which found Luczko guilty Thursday night meets today to set sentence. The maximum sentence would be 10 years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

A Marine legal officer said the character references from Luczko's neighbors in Gardner, Mass., plus his "outstanding" service record could weigh heavily in Luczko's favor.

It was even possible, he said, that Luczko might walk free after a sentence equal to the 15 months he has spent in the Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Prison since his first trial where he was convicted of premeditated murder.

That trial, in Da Nang, Vietnam, led to a sentence of life imprisonment, but the conviction and sentence were overturned by a Navy Board of Review which found legal errors in the proceedings.

The woman, Nguyen Thi Co, was slain while Luczko was leading a combat patrol near Chu Lai on Sept. 22, 1965.

Formal testimony in the retrial wound up after Luczko took the stand to dispute prosecution testimony that he had slain her.

He denied statements from two members of that patrol who testified that Luczko speculated on the size hole a .45-caliber bullet would make in the woman, shot her through the forehead with his service automatic, then ordered another Marine to "finish her off."

Luczko admitted shooting at the woman, but said he did so as an "automatic reflex" after the woman suddenly squatted beside a haystack while he was questioning her and thrust her arm into the straw.

Ann Landers

Sack of Tricks Not Her Bag

Dear Ann Landers: I am a career woman 41 but I look 10 years younger. I was divorced at age 29 after a most unfortunate marriage. (It wasn't another woman, it was another man.)

Six years ago I fell in love with the lawyer who handled my divorce. He is 50, handsome and well known as an attorney. He told me he and his wife have lived as brother and sister for the past 10 years. He never speaks of his wife or their children but has assured me he will be divorced within three years (when their youngest child graduates from high school). I have promised to wait.

The problem is this: We never go to first-class restaurants or even to a movie or the theater. I am getting fed up on back-alley hiding places.

He has never introduced me to anyone he works with. I am attractive, well-dressed and I make friends easily. I cannot understand why he is ashamed

Use of Medical Services Not Closely Related to Old Age

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of three stories on a study of the health of older people in the small town made by University of Missouri sociologists.

COLUMBIA - The use of medical and health services and the money spent on medical care by Missouri's small town residents 65 years of age or more do not seem closely related to age, according to a study of the state's elderly persons by sociologists at the University of Missouri.

This is one of the findings of the study which, the researchers note, "seem to be at variance with commonly held beliefs about the health of older persons and their use of medical care as well as with the results of other studies of the problem of health and health services among the elderly."

The researchers are Dr. C. T. Pihlblad, professor emeritus of sociology, and Dr. Howard A. Rosencranz, professor of sociology and psychology, who are now in the third year of the three-year study. The project is supported by three annual grants totaling $122,641 from the U. S. Public Health Service.

An interim report on their findings has been prepared by Drs. Pihlblad and Rosencranz. Titled "The Health of Older People in the Small Town," the initial report presents an exhaustive index of the health status of the cross-section of elderly persons covered by the study and presents of detailed analysis, including tables and figures, of the relationship of specific physical abilities to health status.

The study is based on a carefully selected sample of 1,716 persons 65 years of age and over. The sample was chosen in such a way as to be proportional to the number of such residents in four social areas of the state, and three sizes of communities that range from 250 to 5,000 population. Each of the social areas represent geographically contiguous counties which are homogeneous in economic, ethnic and cultural features.

One of the areas (54 counties) comprises all of north Missouri and a two county strip extending southward along the state's western border. Another is the 11-county region immediately west and southwest of the St. Louis metropolitan area. The third (34 counties) is in the Ozarks (most of southern Missouri) and the fourth comprises six counties in southeast Missouri. Nine metropolitan area counties were excluded.

In noting that the amount of illness, the money spent on medical care and the time spent in hospitals do not appear to increase with age, the report says this may be due in part "to the fact that the oldest people in our sample are a selected group, having survived to advanced age in relatively good health. It may be also that those with most serious illness and handicap have been institutionalized and thus not included in our sample. Perhaps it is due to a more optimistic evaluation of their health by the oldest respondents than by those somewhat younger."

In order to obtain a more objective measure of relative health than that given by self-evaluation, a health index was constructed by the researchers. Each subject was asked to indicate from a list of 40 ailments and diseases common among elderly people those to which he was subject. Also he was asked to indicate any ailment or disability which had resulted in confinement to home, to bed at home, or to the hospital during the previous two weeks, with the duration of the confinement.

From the information was computed a total health index score ranging from those who reported no sickness or disability to those with serious medical conditions and four weeks confinement to a hospital. Then, according to individual scores on the health index the interviewees were placed in five classes: two relatively good health groups (I and II), a third group (III) "who might be described as a medium group," and classes IV and V comprising those who were or had been seriously ill or handicapped.

In addition to many other questions about health the elderly persons were asked about problems of personal care or physical mobility, including whether they had trouble going out of doors, walking stairs, getting about the house, washing and bathing, dressing and putting on shoes, cutting teeth, and combing hair. A large majority of all subjects had no problems of physical adjustment or personal care, the report says. Women seemed to experience more difficulty with all except dressing and putting on shoes than did men.

Walking the stairs seemed to pose the greatest difficulty. Three-fourths of the men and three-fifths of the women reported no difficulty but about seven per cent of the men and 10 per cent of the women were completely unable to cope with stairs; one-fifth of the men and nearly 30 per cent of the women could manage only with difficulty. Getting out of doors presented no problem for nine out of 10 men and eight of 10 women; about three per cent of the men and five per cent of the women were completely housebound. The difficulties increased with the level of illness, as did mobility within the home.

If You Were the Judge The Flesh Is Weak but The Spirit Is Willing

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

As the years passed, old age creaked up on Sally. At 91, she was so frail and thin that if she stood sideways she could hardly be seen. In fact, when her lawyer prepared a will for her, she wasn't even strong enough to hold a pen to sign it. Consequently, the lawyer took her by the hand and, steadying her hand, he guided it through the maneuvers of her signature.

Thereafter, Sally tripped over an orange pit and died. Immediately, several of her relatives who were dissatisfied with what she had left them attacked the validity of Sally's will.

"A will must be signed to be valid," they argued in court, "and Sally never signed hers. Her lawyer did. He merely used her hand as a pen holder."

"He only helped her because she wasn't strong enough to write," answered the executor of Sally's estate. "While she may not have signed it physically her herself, she certainly signed it in spirit."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of Sally's will?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that where a person intends to sign a will, and is not forced to do so, it is not invalidated because her attorney helps her sign. (Based upon a 1963 Louisiana Court of Appeals Decision)

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, June 1, the 153rd day of 1968. There are 213 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1958, Gen. Charles de Gaulle became premier of France.

On this date—

In 1792, Kentucky became the 15th state.

In 1796, Tennessee was admitted into the Union as the 16th state.

In 1801, the Mormon leader, Brigham Young, was born in Whittingham, Vt.

In 1812, President James Madison advised Congress that war with Britain was inevitable.

In 1941, during World War II, it was disclosed that the British had evacuated 15,000 troops from the Greek island of Crete.

In 1944, the siesta was officially abolished in Mexico.

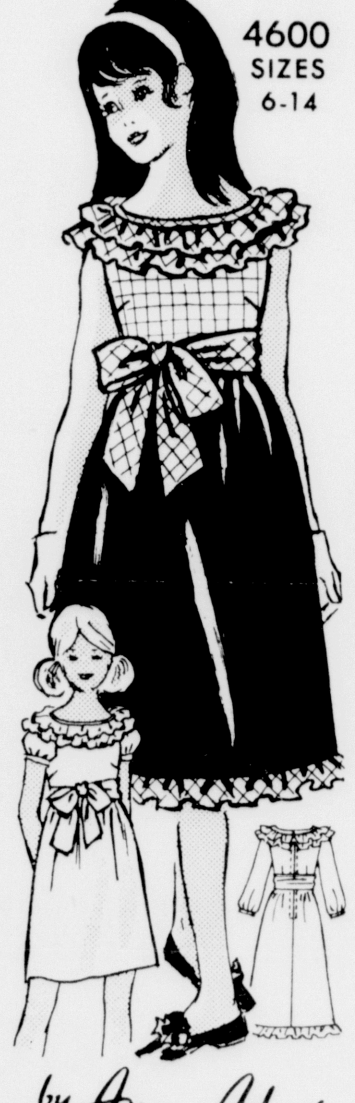

Ten years ago... The Arab League Council, meeting in Benghazi, Libya, took up a complaint by Lebanon that the United Arab Republic was intervening in Lebanese internal affairs.

Five years ago... doctors attending Pope John XXIII said death was imminent.

One year ago... during the Arab-Israeli crisis, the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid passed through the Suez Canal, shadowed by two Egyptian submarines.

Of all the world's fuels, both solid and liquid, coal has the greatest amount in reserve, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Youth On Bike Killed

The fourth Memorial Day holiday fatality in Southeast Missouri was recorded in Troop E of the state highway patrol headquarters at Poplar Bluff yesterday when a 12-year-old boy was struck and killed while riding his bicycle near Perryville.

Dead is Troy Moll of Perryville. He was struck by a car driven by Albert Dunger, 45, of Scott City. The accident happened one and one-half miles north of Perryville on U.S. Highway 61.

Also injured was Dunger's wife, Josephine, who suffered facial cuts as the driver swerved the car into a ditch in an attempt to miss the bicycle as it pulled from a side road, troopers said.

The death brought the year's Troop E death toll to 52, compared to 45 a year ago and marked the fourth fatality attributed to highway accidents during the holiday period.

No fatalities were recorded during the Memorial Day holiday last year while three were killed during the holiday periods in 1965 and 1966.

Sikeston Soldier On TV

A Sikeston soldier serving in Vietnam was interviewed on a CBS morning news program Friday.

Army Sfc. Jackie D. Armstrong was among those aboard a plane that crashed and burst into flames. No one was injured. Mrs. Armstrong, who lives at 221 Missouri Ave., did not see the program, but friends telephoned and told her about seeing her husband.

Mrs. Armstrong said apparently the plane hit an embankment at the end of a short runway. One wing was torn off.

Armstrong is serving with the A 3rd Company, 187th Infantry, 101st Airborne Division. He has been in Vietnam since December.

Mrs. Armstrong will leave June 18 to meet her husband in Hawaii. He will be on a one-week rest and recuperation leave.

The couple has two daughters, Lisa and Tonya.

Developing Appalachia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Appalachian region lies in a long narrow curving band extending from northern New England to central Alabama. It is an area of moderately high altitudes surrounded by the central and coastal lowlands of the continent.

And it is a recognized problem area in the national economy. Encompassing some 185,000 square miles with 17.3 million people in 12 states it is a depressed area whose per capita income is only 68 per cent of the national average.

The economy of the area declined sharply after World War II and lack of adequate access to the region and difficulty of traveling within the area hindered the many governmental and private agencies interested in developing the region as did an inability to utilize fully the natural resources and the chronic unemployment resulting from changing technology in mining and industry.

Five years ago the Presidents Appalachian Regional Commission was established to develop a comprehensive plan for the economic recovery of the area which is rich in natural resources particularly coal, oil, gas and timber.

Coal mining has been a major industry of the area for many years providing about two-thirds of the nation's bituminous and all of its anthracite coal production but automation and a declining demand for coal reduced coal industry employment by 64 per cent between 1951 and 1961. Now about 5 per cent of the area's total employment is engaged directly in mining.

In an effort to revive the poverty stricken area Interior Department specialists urged rebuilding its economy by investing the wealth of its resources right at home.

In a 492 page report released early in May, specialists of the Geological Survey and Bureau of Mines said the rough terrain that once kept industry out can be tamed by the bulldozer and is even becoming an economic asset as an attraction for tourists and sportsmen.

The region must find or create suitable sites for industry make them more accessible and provide cheap power based on its coal industry the report said. To put the region's resources to work at home the report recommended building large mine-mouth power plants that would burn the abundant bituminous coal and provide cheap electric power for manufacturing.

This and provision of factory sites and access routes are critical needs it said. The report also pointed to future potential of now-experimental processes for extracting petroleum from shale and for converting coal into gasoline. It said there is an urgent need for a search for deep-seated sources of petroleum and gas.

In a summary chapter the report said: If this section seems to be an optimistic description of the possibilities for economic development in Appalachia, it is because that is its very purpose.

Technological advances that have made terran mitigation feasible coupled with Appalachia's rich natural resource base are the makings of a viable self-sustaining productive economy in Appalachia, and accelerated economic development is a realistic goal.

Diving Systems Join Sub Search

NORFOLK Va (AP) The Navy has flown two deep submersibles and an advanced diving system to the Azores to explore the shallow waters near the last reported position of the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion.

The deep submersibles, LinkPerry and Deep Diver and the advanced diving system Ads Mark 4 were sent Friday to survey the ocean bottom south of the Azores where the Scorpion last radioed her position May 21.

All three can explore the ocean floor to a depth of more than 1,000 feet. The Scorpion and her crew of 99 were due to arrive at her home port here Monday at 1 p.m. and was declared missing on Wednesday.

While the armada searches a 15-mile wide track three patterns of search planes are conducting visual observation flights along a 100-mile wide track on the same course. The focal point of the search is now around the Cruiser Banks with depths as shallow as 100 feet, and the Irving Banks, 300 miles south of the Azores. The Scorpion's projected course would have taken it within 30 miles of these sea mounds, or underwater ridges. The nuclear submarine Gato was scheduled to arrive today in the area of the sea mounds to rendezvous with the deep submersibles.

Vice Adm Arnold F Schade commander of the rescue force told newsmen Friday that the area off the Azores was the second logical spot to search since no clues to the Scorpion's whereabouts had turned up in the ocean approaches to Norfolk. Asked by a newsmen if the Navy had ruled out the possibility that the Scorpion was on the continental shelf Schade replied "Yes, I think that we can say that."

The admiral also conceded that with each passing hour the situation is certainly grimmer. Navy divers determined Friday that an underwater hulk located by sonar in 150 feet of water 70 miles off Cape Henry Va was a World War II ship to shore frequency

New Moves by Hanoi Hint Shift in Talk Strategy

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam may be preparing to outflank its own barrier to progress in the Paris talks and move the discussion to broad peacemaking issues without insisting on an immediate end of bombing in the North.

This possibility is being studied by U.S. officials. It arises from wording used in the North Vietnamese Communist party paper Nhan Dan today.

Nhan Dan said that before other problems in the peacemaking process can be discussed, the United States "must first of all clearly acknowledge its responsibility to put a definitive and unconditional end to bombing and all other acts of war on the whole Democratic Republic of Vietnam territory."

This new formulation of an old North Vietnamese demand coincided with the assignment of a new North Vietnamese adviser to the delegation here headed by Ambassador Xuan Thuy.

On his way to Paris, according to the North Vietnamese announcement, is Le Duc Tho, 57, a member of the Politburo of the North Vietnamese Communist party's Central Committee.

Disclosure Friday that Tho has been assigned to the Paris talks aroused speculation that North Vietnam might be planning a tactical shift of position with Tho bringing fresh instructions to Xuan Thuy.

This made the Nhan Dan statement on the bombing issue a matter of unusual interest and importance in assessing the future possibilities of the Paris negotiations.

The talks between U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam are in recess until Wednesday Tho who is probably traveling by way of Moscow as other members of the Hanoi delegation have done presumably will be in Paris by that time.

Meanwhile Cyrus R. Vance deputy to Harriman is expected back here Sunday from Washington where he reported to President Johnson on the talks. He left after the fifth meeting last Monday.

The questions about Tho's mission which interest U.S. officials here are whether he is bringing any new instructions to Thuy on new maneuvers by the North Vietnamese in the conference.

Friday's meeting the sixth since the talks started three weeks ago produced no movement toward agreement by either side.

U.S. spokesman William J. Jordan said however the meeting was marked by spontaneous discussion slightly more informal talks and less speech making but the result was the same he said no action on deescalating the war.

Another development which some Americans found slightly encouraging was that midway in their session of almost four hours the two delegations took a refreshment break. They were served tea and soft drinks by the French staff at the International Conference Center.

This was the first time such a social touch had been injected in their formal encounter across the conference table they continued to exchange on the issue of reducing the level of conflict in Vietnam.

Thuy said that if Harriman persisted in demanding some concession from North Vietnam for ending all attacks on that country they would eventually put out a joint communique in which the U.S. would pledge to stop its attacks and North Vietnam would pledge to abstain from attacking the United States.

Harriman retorted that the suggestion was fantastic but he said it could be rewritten to deal with 'real issues.'

Unit Vote Key Issue at State Demo Convention

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The big question before the Democratic State Convention today was whether Missouri's 60 votes to the national nominating convention would be bound by the unit rule for Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Democratic State Chairman Delton L. Houtchens, a Humphrey man, sponsored a resolution endorsing Humphrey in strong terms. But he said he would let the delegates decide whether to adopt the unit rule.

Backers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Eugene

McCarthy joined forces to oppose any binding pledge in a fight on the floor. Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, campaigning for his brother, said they would use any parliamentary tactic they could to stop the Humphrey drive.

All he got from Houtchens in a conference Friday was a promise of fair play. Kennedy told a big and noisy hospitality room crowd Friday night all his brother wants is "a chance to come here and meet with your delegates."

He urged Missouri Democrats to go along with Gov. Warren E.

Hearnes in opposing the unit rule.

Kennedy forces incited handbills quoting Hearnes' statement that "I am personally opposed to the unit rule."

"Support the governor!" the handbills urged.

Meanwhile supporters of Sen. McCarthy planned to contest the credentials of some delegates from the metropolitan areas, where they said their people did not get a fair deal.

McCarthy garnered two votes in district conventions earlier, but his backers claimed at least 10 per cent of Missouri's 60 national convention votes if they are not pledged to Humphrey. Kennedy had no pledged votes going into today's convention.

Enthusiasts for the various candidates whooped it up in the hospitality rooms Friday night, with liquor flowing freely and the beat of musical combos stirring the emotions.

Sen. Kennedy drew the biggest crowds. McCarthy supporters were somewhat hampered when one of the two elevators — in their downtown motel broke down.

State candidates also entertained a steady stream of visitors but their scattered hospitality rooms took second billing to the presidential candidates.

In addition to finishing the job of selecting 78 delegates to cast Missouri's 60 votes at the National Convention in Chicago next August, the state Democrats also had the job of choosing a new national committee man and committeewoman.

Sidney Salomon Jr. of St. Louis businessman and party angel, was expected to be chosen committeeman succeeding the veteran Mark R. Holloran of St. Louis.

Mrs. Shirley Butters, wife of a Bowling Green automobile dealer, was tapped by party leaders for the committeewoman's job to succeed Mrs. Sally Haley of Arrow Rock.

Symington Says Demos Can Solve U.S. Problems

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — U.S. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said today the Democratic party can solve the nation's problems.

He pledged stepped up efforts to win peace in Vietnam, stop inflationary trends, find jobs for the unemployed, solve the problems of poverty, improve educational opportunities and provide equal opportunity for all Americans.

Symington made the promises in the keynote speech prepared for the Missouri State Democratic Convention.

He said the Democrats are "proud of our accomplishments" but that what has been done is just a start on what is needed.

He predicted that despite the hard fought primary campaigns in the coming summer months the Democrats will close ranks after the August primaries "and work together for success in the general election."

ymington praised Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes for the accomplishments of his first four years as chief executive.

Hearnes sponsored a constitutional change that will allow him to be the first Missouri governor to seek a second successive term. He is expected to win the Democratic nomination easily.

"Here in Missouri," Symington said, "we of the Democratic party have the right to be proud of many things — and one of the chief reasons for that pride is the progress we have made in many fields, including education, under the dynamic and courageous leadership of our governor — Warren Eastman Hearnes."

Under Hearnes, state aid to public schools has risen from $12 million in 1965 to an estimated $36 million next school year, Negroes and Whites.

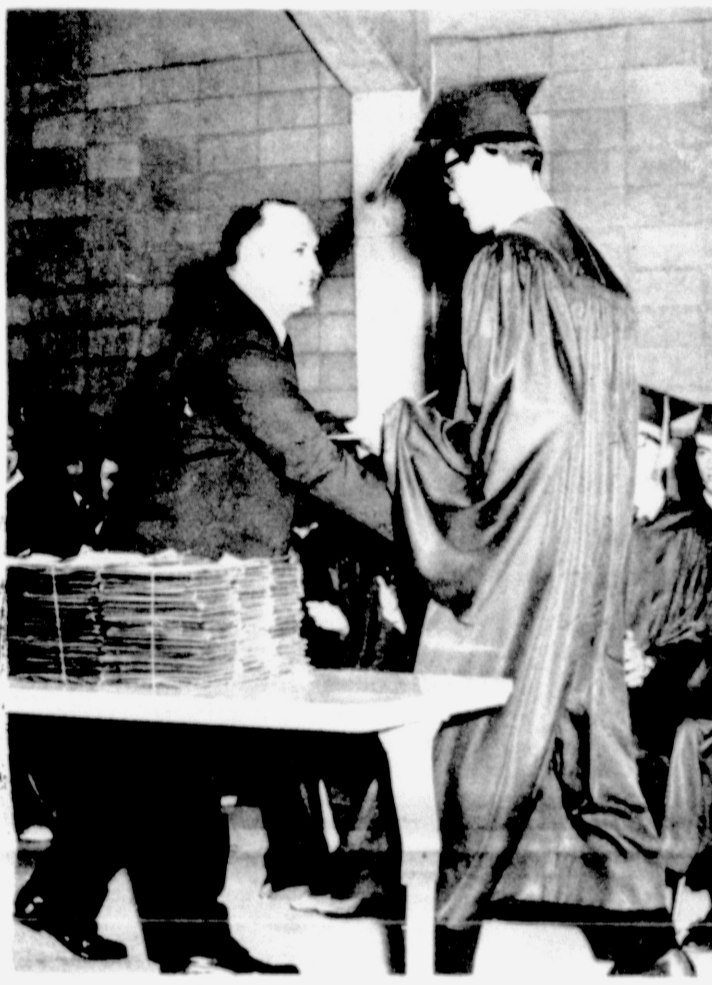

Symington said. In the same period state aid to universities and colleges has more than doubled, aid to junior colleges has been boosted from $1.8 million to $3.3 million and two new four year colleges have been established, at Joplin and St. Joseph.

Missouri has added 32 new industries and 604 others have expanded their operations in the state. They have created 50,000 new jobs and the annual payroll has risen by $29 million.

On civil rights at the national level, Symington said "significant progress has already been made" but "there is still much to be done in the field of opportunity."

"Let us note, however, that Negroes in the United States participate more in the conduct of the government, at all levels, than is the case in any other predominantly White nation."

The Democratic convention was held in Richardson Auditorium on the campus of Lincoln University, once an all-Negro state supported institution. Since 1964 it has been integrated and now the faculty and student body include both Negroes and Whites.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Government is concerned about the population explosion — but the population is concerned about the Government explosion.

FORGET POOR-MOUTH LARRY

One of these days Warren Hearnes is going to fool around and make a candidate out of Lawrence Roos, a nonentity in Missouri who is the Republican candidate for Governor.

Roos is a glorified county judge from St. Louis County with practically no experience in state government and a questionable record in local government; he knows little about the state and couldn't tell a cotton plant from a rutabaga. In recent weeks he has been running over the state, talking about Missouri's alleged failure to keep pace with other states in all manner of programs. He knows so little about the state that several weeks ago he said all of Missouri's problems were urban and he didn't intend to waste his time worrying about any that might exist in the outstate area.

And what surprises us is that Governor Hearnes has been answering Roos, paying attention to the St. Louis Countian as if what the latter was saying had some meaning or validity. We can understand the Governor's disgust with some of Roos' statements for the county judge has poor-mouthed the state's attempts in practically every field. But Governor Hearnes has an excellent record in office, and he need apologize to no one, Democrat or Republican.

We urge the governor to put forth some progressive ideas for the future and leave the poor-mouthing to county judge Larry. No one is deceived by the political tactics being followed by Roos, and Governor Hearnes is committing a political blunder when he attempts to go around trying to explain the distortions of poor-mouth Larry.

Let the Governor pay attention to the future, for Roos has the past all to himself. Which is exactly the way it will be after next November's general election.

The results of the Oregon primary in which Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota outdistanced Sen. Bobby Kennedy demonstrates once more the appeal of a new face and a new approach in American politics.

The result should give pause to another Minnesotan, Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

There are many Americans dissatisfied, uneasy and worried about conditions prevailing at home and abroad in this country.

Humphrey appears more certain every day to become the Democratic nominee but he will have to radiate more than happiness and strong identification with the Lyndon B. Johnson administration if he wins the election.

He will have to convince the American people that he will do things both differently and better in order to become president.

The primaries have demonstrated repeatedly that there is great unrest in this country among the voters.

The voters not only are ready to rock the boat, they want to overturn it and that they are not only willing to change horses in the middle of the stream, they are insisting on it.

If Humphrey wins the nomination, he has his work cut out for him.

We have been asked repeatedly why we are so enthusiastic about the act of Bobbie Kennedy. We are glad to answer he's the man who is responsible for Jimmie Hoffa being in the penitentiary. Do you need any other reason?

Behind every man is a woman who keeps reminding him that she knows men who have done even better!

Don't worry if you are not good looking. You look all right to your friends; the best looks in the world could not make you look good to your enemies, and those who are not interested in you don't know how you look.

The Claytons have done a fine thing again this year. We are speaking of their arrangements for the Memorial Day Services — the Garden of Memories.

It is a shame that more people were not in attendance. If all of the folks who stayed in their cars and the folks who stood up for the services had of come to the chairs, it would have been a respectable showing.

Maybe we are paying more attention to things other than miniskirts at our age but it seemed to us that never before have we seen all three of our cemeteries so beautifully decorated with flags and flowers.

Anyone who has a member of their family buried in either the City Cemetery, the Memorial Park Cemetery or the Garden of Memories, who did not visit the cemetery where their loved ones rest, missed a heart filling sight.

Whenever goods and services are "free," people aren't — Government which gives these for nothing must work people for nothing.

In 1962 highway deaths topped the 40,000 mark. Three years later the figure was 48,500 and in 1966 America's highways were stained with the blood of 52,500 persons.

The skyrocketing figures paused — even dropped a bit in 1967. The year-end toll stood at 52,200, according to the highway accident booklet released annually by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Tragedy did not stop with the deaths, but added 3,840,000 persons to the 1962 injured list. 4,400,000 were injured in 1966 and 4,200,000 in 1967 — a reduction of some 200,000.

The record of 1967 gives us the first appreciable improvement in this respect that has taken place in more than a decade. The satisfaction this gives must be qualified, however, for it will require many more years of consistent betterment before we can claim any genuine progress toward the conquest of a stubborn and tragic problem.

Adverse weather was not an important contributing factor in 1962 or 1967. Records show that last year some 80 percent of the fatal crashes occurred on clear days and dry roads. The remaining 20 percent occurred in fog, rain and snowy weather.

Excessive speed continues to hold top spot in the list of accident causes, with reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the road taking second third places respectively. Pedestrians were at fault in many of the fatal accidents, with crossing between intersections being the top killer.

Youthful drivers hold the greatest responsibility on the highway death list. Almost one third of the drivers in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Wilbur Mills watches out for Arkansas banks and bond holders; Australian Prime Minister salutes U.S. troops; Chrysler Corporation raises cash for political campaigns

WASHINGTON — While Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has been pressing the White House for greater cuts in federal spending he is making sure that his own state of Arkansas isn't hurt.

Mills quietly slipped a loophole into the 10 per cent surtax bill, to protect big Arkansas taxpayers—chiefly banks and insurance companies.

The loophole nullifies a Treasury Department ruling that municipal - industrial bonds, designed to attract new industries in various states, shall no longer be tax exempt. Mills' Loophole requires that such bonds shall remain tax exempt.

In the past, Arkansas has floated about a billion dollars' worth of these municipal bonds.

Mills' new loophole will mean that Arkansas bond holders will continue to enjoy tax exemption, at the expense of northern industry and the other taxpayers of the nation.

—TRIBUTE TO U.S. TROOPS— President Johnson was toasting Prime Minister John Gorton of Australia at a state dinner the other night. "I had a promise from Harold Holt," he said, "that if I lost my job here I could come to Australia and get a job. I wonder, Mr. Prime Minister, does that promise still hold good with you?"

The new Prime Minister promised that it did. He went on to pay a great tribute to American servicemen.

When American troops in South Vietnam have their choice of going to a nearby place for rest and recreation, he said, the majority choose Australia.

"They are taken into our homes," explained the Prime Minister, "and we enjoy them."

They should probe what the Justice Department ignores — the manner in which most of the great corporations keep political slush funds to help candidates who help them. This is against the law. But the corporations get around the law by collecting the money as individual contributions from their executives.

The Chrysler Corporation, for one, has suggested emphatically to its 3,500 executives that they donate to the party of their choice. Those whose salaries are around $25,000 have been urged to contribute in cash. A minimum of $5 for every $1,000 in annual income has been suggested.

The money is forwarded to Harwood - Rydholm, Chrysler vice president in charge of civic affairs, who acknowledged to us that he "sometimes" uses the slush fund to help candidates who help Chrysler.

"A certain amount of that has to be done," he said. He stressed that the cash was always contributed in the names of the donors.

But Chrysler executives do not necessarily decide how their money will be distributed. Chrysler usually decides this for them.

SOUTH KOREA: THE BOOTSTRAP LIFT Take a typical emerging country.

More than one-fourth of its work force exists on incomes of little more than $150 a year; that of farmers averages about $100 a year. More than a million families lack adequate housing.

It is forced to maintain a huge standing army to guard its border with a militant Communist neighbor to the north.

Its first president was ousted in a popular reaction against government corruption. Its present president was the target of a recent assassination attempt by Communist infiltrators.

One American educator described the country this way: "In the United States you see only pockets of poverty, while (here) the visitor sees only pockets of prosperity."

It would all seem to present a favorable climate for Communist subversion and eventual take-over.

South Korea is not a typical emerging country, however. It has had it with communism. The ruthless invasion by North Korea in 1950 remains a vivid memory.

The progress of South Korea's rehabilitation since the war has been little short of spectacular, says the American-Korean Foundation, a New York-based organization that is contributing to that country.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

INSIDE ROCKY'S CAMP: Rockefeller's High Command Runs Soothe-Ins to Calm Key Backers Who Believe Drive Is Dead.

New York: Nelson Rockefeller's top strategists have been holding a series of soothe-ins. Some of his most valuable, knowledgeable, and financial people have been complaining that the Governor is running like an empty brook.

But the message at these intimate sessions — one in the sky-high Tower Suite and another at the more proletarian Overseas Press Club — has been to cool it, don't rock the boat, wait for Dick Nixon to make a mistake, stay "fluid and flexible," but get ready to tool up after the national nominating convention if lightning strikes.

At a guarded session last Monday night, some of Mr. Rockefeller's top 50 policy makers on the political, industrial and labor fronts actually asked Bob Douglas, one of his executive suite chaps, if "Nelson plans to pull out again."

The answer, which did little to revive the dispirited political ensemble, was that the Governor is in for the duration, and that Dick Nixon does not have it sewn up because only 15 per cent of the '64 convention delegates will be repeaters this year in Miami.

That figure is a little too low. Actually it will run about 20 per cent, according to one who has counted virtually every nose in every state. The highest "repeaters" have run in recent history was 26 per cent when Dwight Eisenhower was in complete control of a unified party.

Furthermore, some of Mr. Rockefeller's experts point out that since Barry Goldwater ran for president, 46 of the 50 Republican state chairmen have been replaced. They are not necessarily all Rockefeller liberals, but neither are they all bound to Dick Nixon.

After the breakup of the soothe-in, some of Mr. Rockefeller's most intimate associates talked of his disastrous ago when he decided not to run. They explained it was mostly prompted by his deep friendship for Lyndon Johnson.

Few realize how close they are and have been ever since 1965. It was on Jan. 19 of that year, the eve of the inauguration, that an effervescent Lyndon Johnson swept into the Governor's reception at the Sheraton. Mr. Rockefeller moved almost hydraulically towards the box of Nelson and Happy Rockefeller, embraced the Governor and then with the noisy gaiety of the basement hall drowning out his words, thanked "Nelson" for his help in the campaign. Mr. Rockefeller had not backed Barry Goldwater that season.

Then they talked for five minutes — five minutes more than any other governor got.

And there still is another untold story of that era.

CLENCHED FISTS AND OPEN HANDS

Many persons make their way through life reacting to adversity and pressure with a clenched fist which robs them of peace and power. But in the presence of God's love and grace the clenched fist can become an open hand which receives abundantly of the calm, purposeful life God wants to give. Do you need to begin to learn how to open that fist by learning to worship.

Mary Benn Ammerman Pledges Vows With Arvil Van Adams

CYNTHIANA, Ky. — Arrangements of white gladioli and daisies and palms decorated the altar of the First United Methodist Church Sunday for the wedding of Mary Benn Ammerman of Paris, Ky., and Arvil Van Adams of Portageville, Mo.

The Rev. Earl T. Curry officiated at the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Reed Ammerman of Paris. Adams' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Vernell Adams of Portageville, Mo.

Miss Irene Smith, Cynthia, organist, accompanied James L. Clarke of Lexington, Ky., who sang "O Perfect Love," "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Ammerman wore a gown of ivory silk organza over peau de soie with Alencon lace roses applied on the empire bodice, wedding band neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The slender skirt, enhanced with a wattle panel caught with lace motifs, extended into a chapel train. Her veil was held by a bonnet mantilla of Alencon lace.

She carried a cascading bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis with ivy streamers. Mrs. Bobby O. Cox of Memphis, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judith Kay Conley, Middlesboro, Ky., Mrs. William Stokes Harris Jr., Kansas City, Mo., Miss Ann Stephens Richart, North Middletown, Ky., and Miss Susan Dell Tucker, Paris.

The attendants wore powder blue organza gowns with bateau necklines, elbow-length sleeves and empire bodices with draped back panels caught with self-fabric bows. They wore matching bow headpieces with short illusion veils. Each carried a nosegay of lavender and purple daisies and pink sweetheart roses with ivy.

Ringbearer was Robert Reed Cox of Memphis, the bride's nephew.

David L. Wells of Kansas City, Mo., was best man. Groomsmen were Sterling P. Cook Jr., West Memphis, Ark., Ira Hubbard and Bill R. Martin, both of Memphis, and E. B. Orio, Lexington, Tenn.

The bride's mother wore a pale pink linen sheath with heavy and embroidery accenting the front. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Miss Adams wore a light blue silk jersey A-line dress with blue lace yoke and sleeves, white accessories and a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the church. Serving were Mrs. James L. Clarke, Mrs. Jerry L. Stovall, Miss Beth Brandenburg and Miss Nancy Dorton, all of Lexington, Ky.

They are living at 1826 Marietta Dr., apartment 7, Lexington, Ky. Mrs. Adams graduated from the University of Kentucky, Lexington, in May with a bachelor of arts degree and has accepted a teaching position in Lexington beginning in the fall. Her husband is completing work on a Ph. D. in economics at the University of Kentucky.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Arvil V. Adams, Mrs. V. R. Massey, Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Henson and Miss Vicki Henson, all of Portageville, and Miss Shirley Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Dewavon Adams, all of Sikeston.

The rehearsal dinner, given by the groom's parents, was last Saturday at the Continental Inn in Lexington.

Mary Cauthorn

Candidate for Graduation

MEMPHIS -- Mary Cauthorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cauthorn of Sikeston, Mo., is one of 52 candidates for graduation certificates at the Baptist Memorial Hospital School of Nursing.

Graduation ceremonies will be 8 p.m. Friday at First Baptist Church with Dr. Herbert Gabhart, president of Nashville's Belmont College, as speaker.

Miss Cauthorn was chosen as freshmen sweetheart queen, most versatile and most beautiful of the senior class and as a girl of the month during her studies at BMH. She also was a member of the Glee Club and the volleyball team and was student council public relations director. Miss Cauthorn served on numerous committees and was well known for her illustrations for various programs and publications of the school.

Students who receive certificates have completed some 1,400 hours of instruction over a three-year period. The training includes two semesters of the basic sciences and English at Memphis State University.

The BMH school is approved by the Tennessee Board of Nursing and the National Nursing Accrediting Service of the National League of Nursing. It is the largest nursing school in Tennessee.

The POWER of FAITH

In Willemstad, on the Caribbean Island of Curacao, is the oldest synagogue and the oldest Jewish congregation in the Americas. Mikve Israel, which means the Hope of Israel, was founded in 1654, and the present synagogue was built in 1732. Rich in history, it houses many artistic treasures, including a hand-wrought silver Hanukkah menorah that has been used for 250 years.

Visitors recall Mikve Israel as the synagogue whose floor is covered with sand, for symbolic as well as practical reasons. Symbolically it represents two things—the desert on which Israelites camped during their long journey from slavery to freedom and also God's traditional blessing to the patriarchs that their descendants be as numerous "as the sand which is upon the seashore." From a practical standpoint, it muffles the sound of footsteps on the wooden plank floor during services.

To Curacaoans and visitors of all faiths this historic house of worship is a symbol of the constancy of a great faith.

Jaster Flirts With Record; Drysdale Ties 64 Yr. Mark

Don Drysdale and Larry Jaster both flirted with baseball's record book. Drysdale made it For Jaster well it was a nice romance.

Drysdale the towering righthanded veteran of the Los Angeles Dodgers, pitched out of a ninth inning jam for a 3-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants late Friday night.

It was big Don's fifth consecutive shutout tying a major league mark set in 1901 by Doc White of the Chicago White Sox and breaking the National League record.

Pitching two-hitters isn't moving Larry Jaster back into baseball's record book, but it might be getting him out of bullpen-and that's the main prize.

The St. Louis Cardinal's lefthander might have won his spot in the starting rotation Friday night by hurling his second twohitter in three starts this season for a 2-0 victory over the New York Mets.

The fact that a perfect game slipped from his grasp when Greg Goossen became the first Met to reach base on a two-out single in the eighth inning was disappointing, sure. But Jaster, a 24-year-old veteran of only two-and-a-half seasons in the major leagues, already has his name in the record book.

Two years ago, he shut out the Los Angeles Dodgers five straight times en route to an 115 rookie season.

"It bothers me not being in the starting rotation," Jaster said after winning his third game in five decisions this season and lowering his earned average for 38 innings to 0.95. He stopped the Dodgers on two hits in his other starting victory and lost to Philadelphia 1-0 last Saturday in his only starting loss.

"They want me in the bullpen because Joe (Jaster's roommate, Joe Hoerner) is the only other experienced lefty in the bullpen," Jaster explained.

"I was aware of the perfect game after getting through the line-up the second time," Jaster said. "The pressure started building from the seventh inning."

By then, the Cardinals had given him a 2-0 lead against hard-luck Tom Seaver, 2-5 with only 19 runs scored for him in 11 starts. Lou Brock tripled to open the third, Curt Flood singled him home and after Tim McCarver walked with two outs Mike Shannon rapped a runcoring single.

"I had been throwing Goossen curves all night and he was looking for it in the eighth," Jaster said. Goossen slammed a curve for a clean hit to left field and Don Bosch did the same with two out in the ninth.

"I always get the one-or-two-hitter," he said. "I've never come this close to a no-hitter-maybe in the Little League one time."

"He pitched his way out of the bullpen tonight," Cardinals' pitching coach Billy Muffett said.

Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 5-4, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 5-2 and Houston took Chicago 3-1 in other National League games, all at night.

In the American League also all at night Detroit nipped the New York Yankees 1-0 Cleveland bombed Washington

83 Boston blanked Baltimore 3-0, the Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota 2-1 in 14 innings and California beat Oakland 3-0 in 12 innings.

Drysdale was breezing along in great shape against the Giants but almost blew it all in the ninth.

Willie McCovey led off with a walk, Jim Hart followed with a single and a walk to Frank Marshall loaded the bases with none out.

Then came a dispute Dick Dietz appeared to be hit on the arm by a pitch which would have forced in a run. But plate umpire Harry Wendelstedt said Dietz made no attempt to get out of the way and called the pitch a ball. Giant Manager Herman Franks was ejected in the discussion that followed.

Drysdale then retired Dietz on a shallow fly got Ty Cline to ground into a force play at the plate and retired Jack Hiatt on a pop fly. He finished with a six hitter.

Little League Season

Opens Tonight at Puckett Field

Little league play for 1968 makes its debut here tonight as action opens at Puckett Field with a pair of games.

Canvas Products will face Fabrick Equipment in the opener at 6:30 p.m. followed by the Police-Ziegenhorn Insurance match at 8 p.m.

The season will run for eight weeks, beginning tonight and running through July 25. An hour and 45 minute time limit will be observed in all games.

Unser Hauls

In Loot At Victory Feast

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. AP - Bobby Unser's victory in the Indianapolis 500-mile race brought him a $177,523 winner's check Friday night at the annual victory banquet.

The total purse was $710,219, compared with the $734,634 payoff in 1967.

Unser, 34, of Albuquerque, N.M., will share the first-place money with his car owner, Bob Wilke of Milwaukee. The driver usually receives 40 to 50 per cent. Unser received $109,673 from the speedway, $45,650 in accessory prizes and $22,200 in lap prizes.

Bill Vukovich, 24, of Fresno, Calif., earned rookie of the year honors for his seventh-place finish in Thursday's race. His father, Bill, was killed in 1955 while seeking a third consecutive victory at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Unser also won merchandise prizes, including the Torino pace car, $1,500 worth of clothing and $1,000 in tools. Vukovich was selected from 1,000; Reed, Atl., 6-1, .857; six first-time drivers at the 500. Carlton, St. L., 6-1, .857. He received $1,000 and a trophy.

Wes Parker had two doubles for the Dodgers, driving in one run and scoring another.

Jaster finished with seven strikeouts against the Oets and outdueled hard-luck Tom Seaver, who had a 1-91 earned run average going into the game but has only a 2-5 record to show for it.

Larry Dierker pitched a solid four hitter and John Bateman slammed a two run double in the Astros victory over Chicago.

Bateman's double with two out in the fourth broke a 1-1 tie and Dierker's pitching made it stand up.

Fred Whitfield singled in two runs in the seventh, breaking a 3-3 tie and pointing Cincinnati to its decision over Philadelphia.

The Phils took an early 3-1 lead on a two run homer by John White and a solo smash by John

THE NEW, THE OLD AND THE BOLD-Newcomer Nolan Ryan (right) is striking out NL batters in record fashion this season and the Senators' slugging giant, Frank Howard (left), is sending AL pitchers to the showers with his menacing bat while veteran Pancho Gonzalez (center) is finding the years and the youngsters catching up with his tennis game.

Willie Stargell's two run homer accounted for all the Pittsburgh runs.

NEW YORK (AP)-Sweden won the team championship in the Vanderbilt Athletic Club's International Table Tennis Tournament Friday night, sweeping two singles matches from Czechoslovakia.

JONESBORO Ark. Three victories are all that stand between Arkansas State University and its first national championship in any sport! The Indians will compete June 5-8 at Springfield, Mo., in the College Division World Series along with three other national baseball powers for the coveted prize.

A-State will tackle Delta State at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 5, following the tournament liftdiffier that afternoon at 1:30.

The Tribe, 21-10-1 on the year, has taken two steps toward the national championship by capturing the Southland Conference and Midwest Regional NCAA titles for the second straight year. This year is the first time a national tournament has been held.

Indian supporters realize that ASU may not have as glittering a won-lost record as the other three teams, but they pin their hopes on the Tribe's success as a tournament team and the fact

A-State played 19 games against major-ranked teams, winning 13. In the process, Coach J. A. "Ike" Tomlinson's charges have turned over 36 double plays to break the old school record by two.

All-American second baseman Dana Ryan, shortstop Jim Callaway and first baseman Steve Morrison have accounted for most of the twin killings.

Ryan is leading the team in batting with a .359 average. He has tied his school record for most stolen bases with 19 and needs only one hit to duplicate the record for most hits (48) which he holds.

Callaway, who starred at third base for three years, moved to shortstop this spring after the starter was injured. The smooth-fielding senior has been on a hitting rampage of late going 16 for 43 in the last 12 games, boosting his average from an early season low of .095 to .268.

Morrison, who was named to the All-Midwest Regional team primarily for his fielding and base running, is second to Ryan in stolen bases with 13.

Left fielder Wayne Pitcock has provided the long ball for the Indians as he has smashed five home runs and had another wiped out by the rain. He needs only one more roundtripper for to etch his name in the record book.

For the year Pitcock is hitting .321 and has stayed above the .300 mark throughout the spring. The speedy Mississippian has also stolen nine bases. The Indians as a team have pilfered 49, only seven shy of the school record.

Another consistent hitter for the Tribe this year has been center fielder Jim Mueller who is batting .290. He needs one double to equal the record of 11 two-baggers.

A strong point of this year's team has been the development of the pitching staff. All five pitchers who have hurled 10 or more innings have an earned run average of under 3.00.

Right-handed ace Rusty Bourg has tied his own school mark for most victories in a season (seven) and has been the No. 1 thrower. He has fanned 79 batters in 93 1/3 innings.

Two other righthanders - John Ford and John Ferrell - have each won five games. Ford (5-2) has compiled a 2.50 ERA while freshman Ferrell (5-0) leads the staff with a 1.62 ERA.

If the Indians win against Delta, they will meet the winner of the Chapman-Atlantic Coast champion game in the semifinals of the double elimination tournament. Chapman of Orange, Calif., captured the Pacific title and is rated No. 4 among college division teams in the last issue of Collegiate Baseball.

Long Island University, No. 1 in the polls, is heavily favored to win the Atlantic Coast crown this weekend and join Chapman, Delta State and ASU in the finals at Springfield. A-State was ranked 15th in the latest poll with Delta State also receiving votes.

MU to Graduate 3,900 Tuesday

COLUMBIA - The University of Missouri - Columbia will confer degrees upon a graduating class of approximately 3,900 members at the 126th annual commencement activities Tuesday evening at Memorial Stadium.

More than 1,000 of the graduates qualified for degrees in January but are considered members of the June class.

In addition, three honorary degrees will be conferred with one of them going to the speaker, Dr. Charles J. Hitch, native of Booneville and president of the University of California. The other recipients will be Dr. Burrhus Frederic Skinner, professor of psychology at Harvard University, and Dr. Barbara McClintock, New York geneticist who was a member of the UMC botany faculty from 1936 to 1941. Dr. Hitch will speak on "Values of Higher Education."

Commencement activities will be packed into two days with the climax arriving at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday when the graduating class and faculty members, clad in traditional academic robes, begin their procession into Memorial Stadium. Chancellor John W. Schwada will read citations of the honorary degree candidates and divisional deans will present graduates of their divisions, for President John C. Weaver to confer the degrees.

The procession will be to organ music provided by Perry G. Parrigan, associate professor of music, followed by singing of the national anthem led by Harry S. Morrison Jr., professor of voice.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Frerking, pastor of Campus Lutheran Church, will give the invocation, after which Dr. Hitch will speak.

Chancellor Schwada will introduce platform guests, after which William C. Myers Jr., vice president of the board of curators, will announce gifts and grants-in-aid received during the year. Chancellor Schwada will announce prizes and honors preceding the conferring of degrees.

B. W. Robinson of Jefferson City, president of the Alumni Association of the University of Missouri - Columbia, will welcome graduates to membership in the alumni association. The distinguished faculty award and the alumni distinguished service award will be presented, respectively, to Dr. Lois Knowles, professor of education, and Forrest C. Donnell, St. Louis attorney who was former Missouri governor and United States senator. After recognition of armed forces graduates, the program closes with the singing of old Missouri and the benediction.

Brewer Fieldhouse will be kept on standby for use in case of rain.

Spokesmen said the two were Sgt. Albert J. Totter and Cpl. Frank C. Iodice but could not immediately give their units or home towns.

Fighting all along the northern frontier left more than 200 enemy troops killed, the allies reported. U.S. losses were put at 25 killed and 112 wounded and South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

Government infantrymen claimed killing 50 enemy soldiers and capturing 22 prisoners eight miles from Hue.

The Candy Stripers are a part of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital Auxiliary, a volunteer service group, and open to all girls who have reached age 16 and who meet the requirements.

The requirements are: The member must be willing to abide by the rules and regulations of the hospital and the Candy Striper organization, have the consent of her parents, and furnish three references, one from her doctor, one from a teacher and one from a minister or business person. She must also furnish her own uniform.

Service given to the hospital, its patients and personnel shall be duties not requiring professional help.

Members must accept the service assigned to them by the director of the Candy Stripers and the nurse in charge but each may choose the time she would like to work, which is any two or more hour shifts any day of the week from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

For further information call Mrs. David Croom, Candy Striper director at 667-5918 or write to RFD 3, Sikeston.

The opening of commencement activities Monday will include initiation ceremonies of Sigma Xi scientific fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa scholastic society and their joint luncheon at Memorial Union at which Dr. David Fellman of the University of Wisconsin will speak.

Meanwhile, alumni registration booths will be established at the Daniel Boone Hotel for returning graduates, particularly the Class of 1918 which will hold its 50th anniversary reunion. The 1918 class members have invited graduates of previous classes to attend the festivities.

Alumni activities will include the 1918 class banquet at 6 p.m. Monday at the Daniel Boone Hotel at which Paul Hamilton, football captain in 1917, will be the speaker. Jean Madden, field director of alumni activities, will present 50-year medals to class members. The reunion continues through the following morning when the reunion classes meet informally from 9 until 12 o'clock at Memorial Union for coffee and doughnuts with Schwada as the host, and with a reunion luncheon at noon at the Union at which Dr. John H. Longwell, a member of the 1918 class, will be the speaker.

Two ceremonies during the day are planned by the School of Medicine. The first will be a pre-commencement assembly at 10 a.m. at Memorial Union to present awards to medical graduates and to administer the Oath of Hippocrates to 74 members of the graduating class. The other will be a similar ceremony at 3 o'clock for the 50 graduates of the School of Nursing, who will take the Nightingale oath and witness presentation of awards.

Other activities during graduation day will include the commissioning of graduates of the Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC at 1:30 p.m. at which Maj. Gen. Charles H. DuBois of the Missouri National Guard will swear in the new armed services officers. The ceremony will take place in Jesse Auditorium. The military graduates will be recognized at the commencement program as they doff caps and gowns and participate in a brief ceremony in their armed service uniforms.

Archaeologists are back at work uncovering evidence of ancient man's presence in this arid land - with a 30-day reprieve.

A miner, Glenn S. Gunn, who holds claims to the barren Mojave Desert site of the diggings had given the scientists until sundown Friday to leave, but said later, "We'll have it worked out in 30 days."

The researchers are working to prove that rock fragments taken from 20-foot-deep pits in the Calico Mountains, 10 miles east of Barstow, are Stone Age tools which may date back as far as 120,000 years, or that the fragments show evidence of being worked by such tools.

This would be the earliest evidence of man's existence in the Western Hemisphere.

Dr. Louis S.B. Leakey, discoverer of the earliest known human remains, supports their contention. He has said the findings are "unquestionably the result of human activity."

But the first problem for the scientists is to remain at their diggings long enough to further substantiate their find.

Gunn says the excavation work is complicating attempts to complete negotiations involving

To Consider Howardville Beautification

NEW MADRID - At a recent meeting of the New Madrid county technical action panel (TAP) a proposal was introduced that concerned a beautification project for Howardville, wherein the Department of Conservation in Missouri might furnish trees for planting.

The possibility was considered of a tree planting machine being made in the shop of the Lilbourn vocational agriculture department of the public school.

Members of the New Madrid County TAP are:

Richard T. Bartlett, Farmers Home Administration, chairman, Bob Cobb, Soil Conservation Service, June Ransburgh, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Carl Sanders, Forestry Service.

Bert Robbins, University of Missouri Extension Center, John Sanders, Vocational Agriculture, John M. Underwood, New Madrid County Welfare, Mary Prentice, Missouri Associated Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. Joe Bartolacci Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

TAP meets each second Thursday of the month. The June meeting will be a dinner meeting at Rosie's Colonial Restaurant June 13 at 6:30 p.m.

TAP is composed of agencies of the USDA and works with other federal, state and local groups to help develop rural areas.

Pleads Guilty To Tampering With Vehicle

NEW MADRID - Lonnie Reid entered a plea of guilty in circuit court on a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Judge William L. Ragland sentenced him to two years in the department of corrections.

Frank Medling will manage the pool and serve as lifeguard. Pam Reddick is a lifeguard and John Odum is employed in the admittance room.

The pool and building have been cleaned, repaired and repainted. The Boy Scouts assisted the Jaycees and will help in the cleaning of the pool. They will have free swimming on Saturday mornings.

For private parties and swimming lessons the manager should be contacted.

Charlesston OK's School Bond Issue

CHARLESTON - A $580,000 bond issue for a new elementary school in Charleston received final approval Wednesday with the opening of absentee ballots.

Voters Tuesday approved the issue by two votes, 1,226 to 612, with a two-thirds majority needed. The absentee voting was 114 for and nine against.

Farm Labor Bulletin

STATE SUMMARY

Most of the State received rain as some planting had stopped. Considerable cotton replanting will be necessary. Strawberry harvest has been delayed and some losses have occurred. Crews of school youth working in hybrid seed corn have been hampered by rains.

High winds on May 25, 1968 destroyed one large building at the Farm Labor Rest Camp in Sikeston. There were no injuries. As of this date, the camp has served 1925 individuals.

Sixteen year round and 1656 seasonal placements were made last week.

SOUTHEAST
Kennett: 405 St. Francis Street - Telephone: 888-4518 Cotton Crop:

In some areas, excessive rainfall and cool temperatures have resulted in some cotton replanting. Good stands prevail in the sandy soil.

Watermelon: Several growers are chopping this week. An average stand exists over the entire county.

Strawberries: The county strawberry harvest is near completion. The recent rains and cold weather caused this to be the greatest loss financially in many a year.

Type of workers needed: None. With school turning out next week we forecast no labor shortage. Poplar Bluff: 211 Pine Street - Telephone: 785-9606

Farming activities have been delayed by rain. All cotton has been replanted or will be replanted. This office has no qualified farm help at present time.

Type of Workers Needed: Farm Hand, General; Openings, 2; Wage Range, $50.00 per week and extras. Caruthersville: 300 Ward Street - Telephone: Edison 2-2416

Wheat and corn crops are, as a whole, good. Cutworms are causing some damage and most fields are being sprayed to control them. Cotton is in about the same condition as it was this time last year. Several acres have been replanted during this week but several hundreds of acres will not be replanted as most farmers are reluctant to replant this late in the year. A good deal of the soybeans in the black low lands are also being replanted.

Type of Workers Needed: Tractor Driver; Unfilled Openings, 1; Wage Range, $1.00 per hour. Cape Girardeau: 231 North Main Street - Telephone: Edgewater 5-6666

Weather continues to be wet and cool. Demand for seasonal labor continues good, with adequate local labor available. Shortage of qualified year-round farm hands still exists.

Recruitment of cannery labor: Continues. Need 25 more workers ages 18-55 for work in Wisconsin starting about June 15th. No experience required.

Type of Worker Needed: Farm Families; Unfilled Openings, 4; Wage Range, $50.00 to $60.00 wk. plus extras. Sikeston: 202 South Kingshighway - Telephone: Granit 1-2731

Sikeston area hit by additional thundershowers - some damage - extent unknown. Demands for workers dwindling. Strawberry picking spotted and workers have reported low earnings. Ample local workers at this time.

Type of Worker Needed: Unfilled Openings, Wage Range: Couples, wife not working, 4, $50.00 per week + house; Couples, wife not working, 2, $1.25 per hour + house; Couple (wife works 2 days), 1, $1.25 per hour + house.

Food, Clothing Lead Cost of Living Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)

Living costs, led by sharp price increases for food and clothing, rose three-tenths of one per cent in April and were four per cent above a year ago, the government reported.

Prices were also higher last month for housing, medical care and a broad range of consumer services, said the Labor Department.

Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the new price increases supported the warning of Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, that the nation's economy is headed for more serious trouble.

The April price increases pushed the consumer price index to 119.9. This means it cost $11.99 in April for typical consumer goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

At the same time, the wholesale price index for farm products, processed foods and industrial raw materials rose one-tenth of one per cent to 108.3.

Chase said most of the price increases resulted from strong demand and higher wages, and that the prospects were for a continued increase.

The bureau also reported that average wages for some 45 million rank and file workers rose two cents an hour to $2.79 in April and weekly earnings hit a record high of $104.63.

Drew Pearson Special

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Businessmen don't need to fear Bobby Kennedy; he fought for gas combine when Attorney General; Supreme Court and courageous California commissioner won out.

WASHINGTON - If American businessmen are worried about Bobby Kennedy as President, they should forget it. As Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy fought for gas combine when Attorney General; Supreme Court and courageous California commissioner won out.

WASHINGTON - If American businessmen are worried about Bobby Kennedy as President, they should forget it. As Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy fought for gas combine when Attorney General; Supreme Court and courageous California commissioner won out.

The story begins during the Eisenhower administration in 1959 when the Federal Power Commission, then packed with friends of gas and oil, put its stamp of approval on a merger between El Paso Natural Gas and Pacific Northwest Gas, which would have made El Paso the sole supplier to California and the Pacific Coast.

This aroused the ire of William Bennett, chairman of California's Public Utility Commission, who appealed the decision to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

At this point, John F. Kennedy was running for President, and commissioner Bennett became one of his advance men. He got to know the Kennedy entourage, and looked forward to antitrust cooperation when the Kennedy family got into power.

He was disappointed. When commissioner Bennett asked the new Democratic solicitor general, Archibald Cox, to join him in his appeal to the Supreme Court, Cox said no.

BOBBY SAYS NO
Bennett then appealed to Robert F. Kennedy, the new attorney general, who also said no. Figuring that Kennedy did not know the significance of the situation and the monopoly hold which El Paso gas would have on gas prices on the Pacific Coast, Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, then Governor of California, also wrote to Attorney General Kennedy.

Again Bobby said no. "Early in 1961 I talked to Bobby Kennedy at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco," says commissioner Bennett. "I tried to explain the importance of this monopoly to the people of California. But I got nowhere. I told Kennedy all I wanted him to do was not to oppose our petition to the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. But Bobby said no."

West monopoly. In its last decision, the court removed U.S. Judge Walter Ritter of Salt Lake City because he had shown prejudice. U.S. Judge Hatfield Chilson has replaced him and will soon pick a buyer for Pacific Northwest Pipeline. This will mean gas competition in the Far West.

Mondlane
Accustomed To Danger

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) - The former professor eyed suspiciously the door of a hotel suite.

"I may be killed any day—but there will be victory," said Eduardo Mondlane, 47-year-old leader of an East African group seeking to wrest Mozambique from Portuguese rule.

The odds are against him, but he is used to overcoming odds. His front for the liberation of Mozambique, Frelimo, went into action in 1964 with 250 armed men. Today it claims to be able to field a force of 10,000 men—and to have knocked out 6,000 Portuguese troops. But Frelimo is not without inside stresses.

Mozambique is the East African outpost of Portuguese rule. The United Nations General Assembly has condemned Portugal's refusal to free it along with Angola and Portuguese Guinea on the west coast. Portugal denies they are colonies, and says the opportunities of Portuguese citizenship are open to all the people.

Mondlane is a native of Mozambique who was educated in South Africa and at Harvard and once taught anthropology at Syracuse University in New York.

The Portuguese admit to having an army of 42,000 in Mozambique. Mondlane says the figure is closer to 65,000. "It is not the soldiers we are concerned about; it is the airplanes," he says, adding that anti-aircraft weapons are expected soon.

His group claims control of the northern province of Niassa—"We control the border. The Portuguese army is in garrison and come and go by air," Mondlane says. He says he was in Mozambique in mid-May and his men also are active in the provinces of Cabo Delgado, Tete and Zambezia.

Arms come from sympathetic countries, including Communist China, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia as well as African countries offering British and Belgian weapons.

Frelimo operates a school in Tanzania to prepare leaders for the day when it hopes Portuguese rule is ended.

Definite authorship of the Epistle to the Hebrews in the New Testament is unknown. It has been credited to Barnabas, Apollo and the Apostle Paul.

Dear Sir:

Apathy is the most crippling of afflictions from which a populace may suffer. The apathetic, nonchalant and others who refuse to care, belong to the cults that cannot be expected to know, and apathy is their convenient alibi for failure to know. The truth-side's greatest danger comes from those who are indifferent, unconcerned, listless and numb. The nation needs for them to "choose a side."

Stooges and dupes are not apathetic; they are deceived rather than uniformed. Some of them could be won over and become valuable partisans for freedom, as they are people who like to "get in on the act." Converts are known for their zeal, and when imbued with accurate knowledge, former dupes may recognize "it could happen here," concern themselves with what they find happening and become valiant troops in the pending battle for the survival of our Republic.

Dear Sir:

As the last issue of the Barker comes off the press, we of the Barker staff wish to thank you for the use of your facilities and the invaluable help of your employees.

Without your help, it would have been impossible for us to present the Barker to the students of Sikeston High School.

Without the interest your personnel took in the staff and its work, we could not pride the Barker nearly so much as we do.

We sincerely hope you will continue to allow the Barker to be published at the Daily Sikeston plant.

Again, we appreciate all you have done to help us. Thank you.

Members of Congress have taken the oath to defend the Constitution and feel obligations to their constituents. People want to convey their wishes to their Members of Congress. MCs read all letters to the editor in publications they believe their constituents read, but do not have time to personally read letters written to them. A fine way to reach MCs is to write a brief letter to the editor, causing three to six friends to append their signature, address and telephone number to a copy of it, affixing above their signature on the copy "We concur," and send this copy to the MCs you believe are interested in your views. If never published, your letter is worth far more than the 6 cents cost of mailing it. It will be read by a member of the staff and can affect future policies of the publication. If you are not gifted in writing, ask an acquaintance to help prepare the letter. Your message will then begin bearing weight even while being written.

HORRIBLE, THOSE SLUMPS
HIALEAH, Fla. (AP) - When jockey Earle Fries lost with favored In Reality in the Seminole Handicap here he ran into a losing streak of 31 straight defeats.

"It's too bad," said trainer Sunshine Calvert, a former jockey who trains In Reality.

"I was riding so bad once a trainer asked me before the race, 'Do me a favor. Try and finish with the horse, will ya?'"

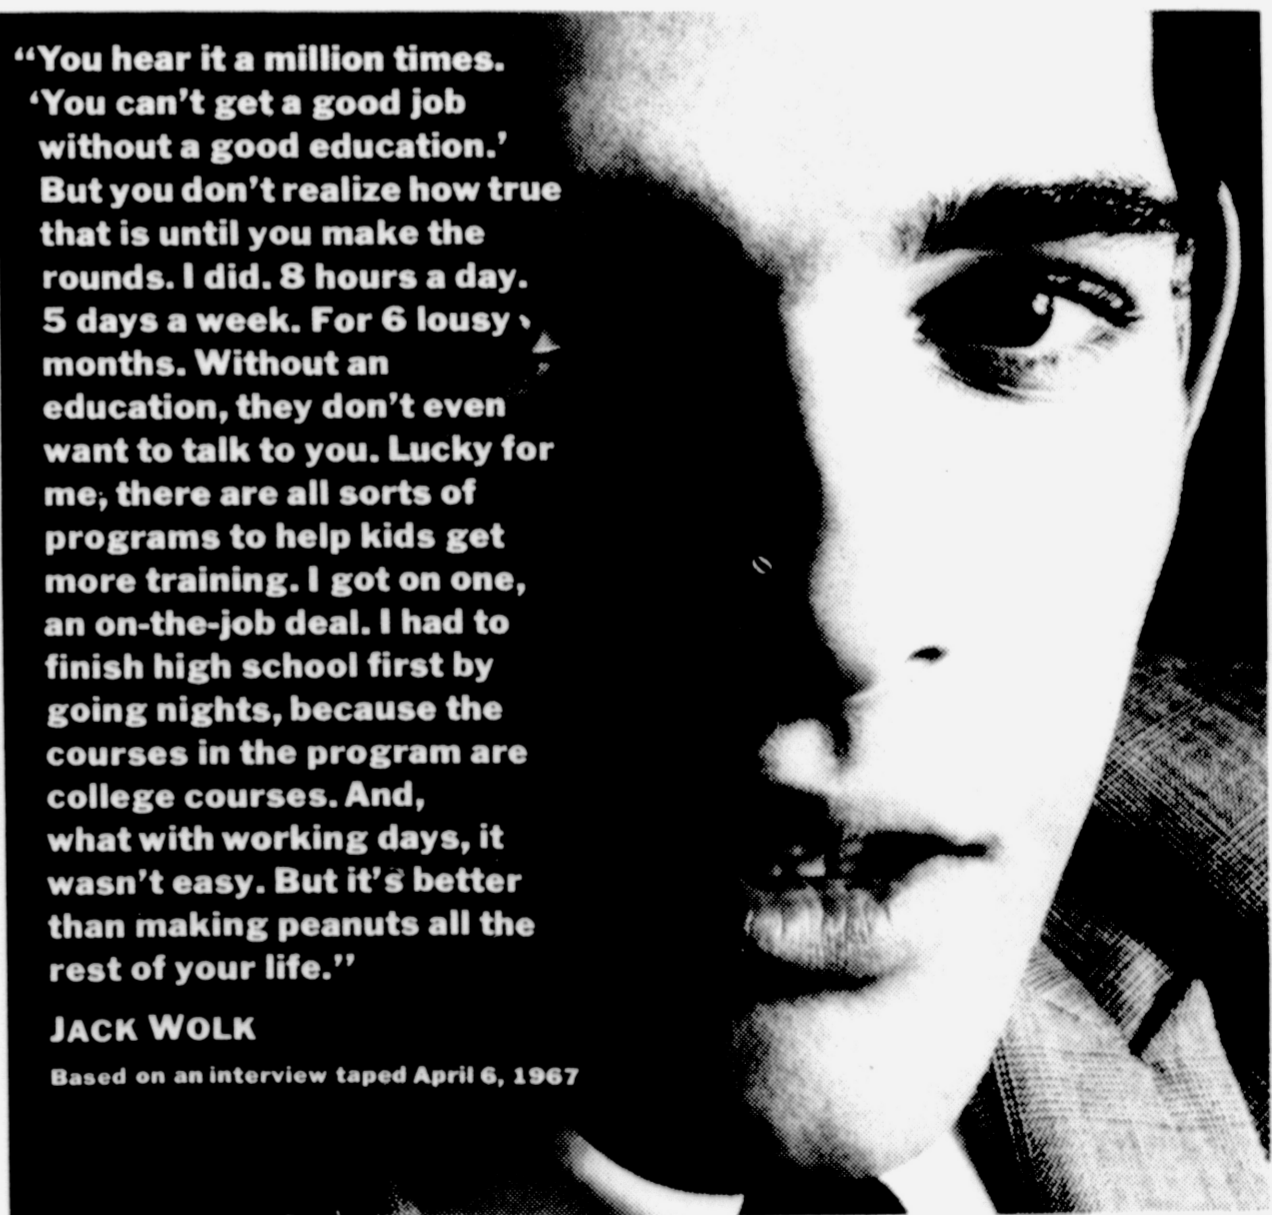

Cook thin steaks in butter in a skillet; remove the steaks to a platter and keep warm. Add a little butter to the pan along with some red wine; stir well and simmer about 5 minutes; pour over steaks. Seasonings should be added to the steaks or the sauce to suit your own taste.

If you think staying in school is tough, listen to someone who quit.

"You hear it a million times. 'You can't get a good job without a good education.' But you don't realize how true that is until you make the rounds. I did. 8 hours a day. 5 days a week. For 6 lousy months. Without an education, they don't even want to talk to you. Lucky for me, there are all sorts of programs to help kids get more training. I got on one, an on-the-job deal. I had to finish high school first by going nights, because the courses in the program are college courses. And, what with working days, it wasn't easy. But it's better than making peanuts all the rest of your life."

Skilled at Sightless Housekeeping

TULSA (AP)—People with good eyes sometimes see less of the world and the people in it than the person who is blind. Sighted people often fail to hear, smell and feel. They sometimes just look.

That is the opinion of Mrs. Betty Allred of Tulsa, who has been blind for 10 years from the effects of diabetes.

"For instance," she says, "a blind person is not fooled by a person's appearance like a sighted person is. He looks for other clues of character than what he can see, and they are more revealing."

Mrs. Allred, busy wife of KAKC radio executive Bill Allred, has found that even housekeeping and cooking can be more fun for a blind person who makes her difficulties her servants rather than her masters.

She learned the art of sightless housekeeping at the reading center for the blind in Little Rock, Ark. The four-month course has made it possible for her to be independent.

She washes, irons, cooks, dries, sorts socks, scrubs floors, vacuums the house, selects her own clothes, reads everything published in talking books and works on the rest in Braille, has a dog, a bird and a stepson in college. She is active in church and civic affairs.

How does a blind person pour tea?

"You hold your hand around the cup and feel the heat come up the cup," she says.

For cooking she uses the feel of heat and the sound of cooking as her guides. Bacon is crisp when it quits sizzling and pork chops are done when they quit popping.

In her pantry each item has a little Braille tape on it that is hung on a hook for her to use in making her grocery list when the contents are gone. She tries to put everything away herself so she knows where it is.

"Boy, does that make you a housekeeper," she says. "One little mixup and you are washing dishes in rice crispies."

Is there anything she cannot do?

"They took away my driver's license," she says, laughing.

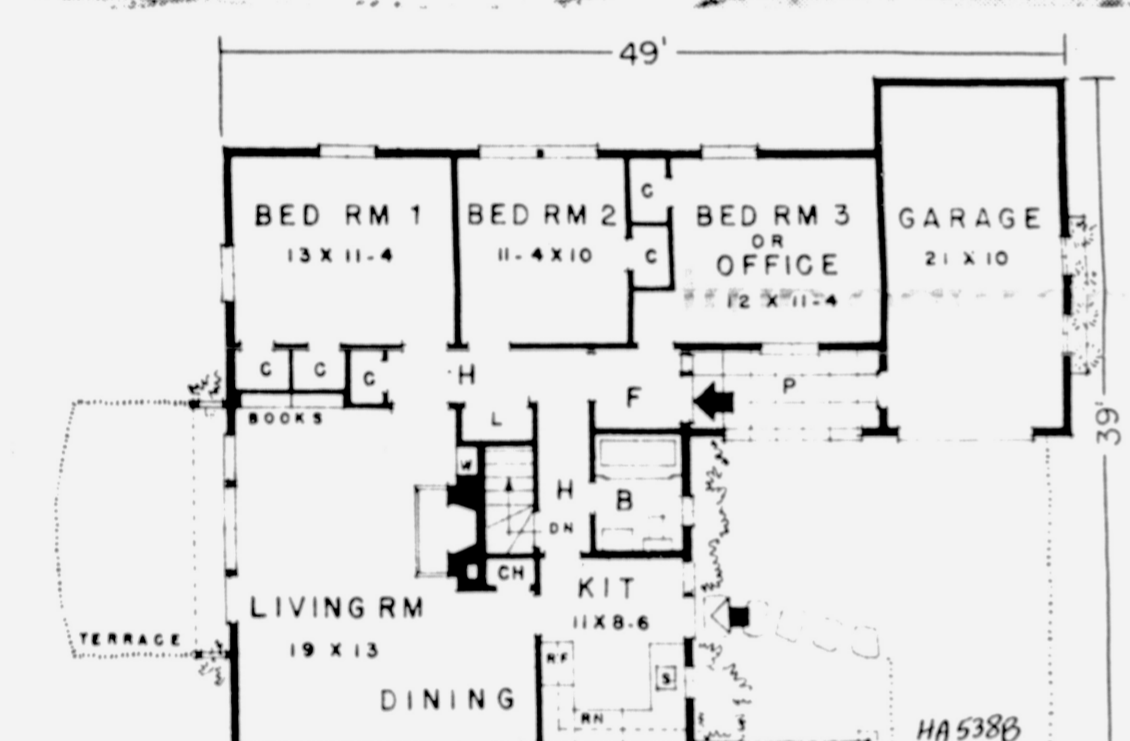

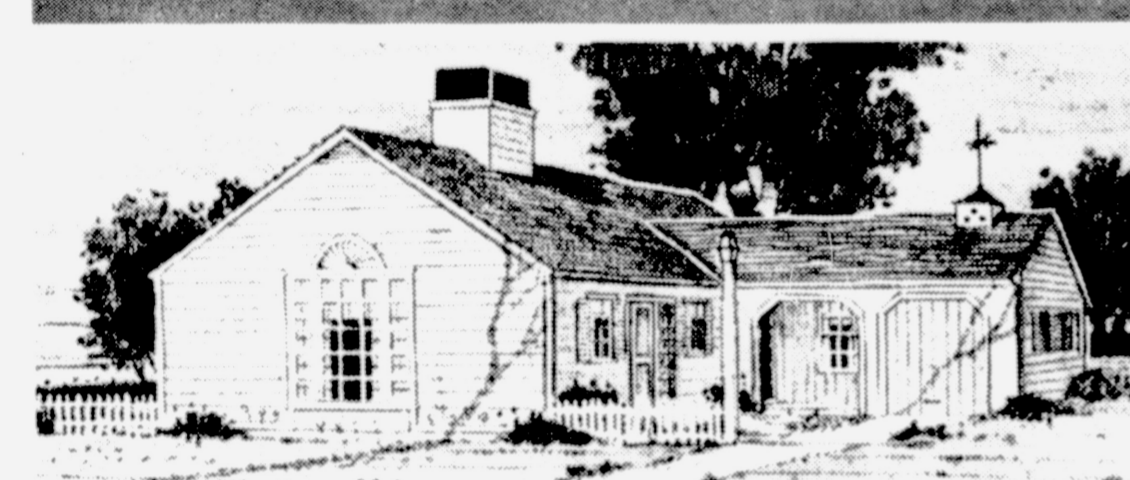

"And I guess it is a good thing they did. I kept it for two years after I couldn't drive anymore. Like a teen-age kid, I think it was a symbol to me."

But, all in all, life is pretty exciting.

"I am challenged to live in a sighted world which I cannot see," she says. "But live in it I do."

ADEPT. . . Betty Allred, blind for 10 years, has mastered multitude of household tasks, is better cook than before, says her husband.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PRETTY NEW ENGLAND-STYLE ranch house has a fine option for a home office or private study, or even a third bedroom. The kitchen is at the front. The big Palladian window is in the dining room. CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Once again, New York's camera fans had a five-day opportunity to indulge in their hobby's varied facets at the 1968 International Photography & Travel Fair held in the Coliseum.

For one admission there were educational lectures, movies and slide shows, costumed models to photograph, entertainment, the latest in equipment, demonstrations and fine photographic exhibitions on display.

Photographic gatherings of this nature give a fan an individual chance to choose inspiration, application or information according to his specific interests. Actually, too many spectators drift along haphazardly, seeing only what they happen to come across. A wiser plan is to obtain a program, study the offerings and select the particular speakers, exhibitions, slide and movie shows which interest you. Make a point of arranging your time to include them.

One of the most popular features this year was Kodak's special 30-minute slide tour of the world. There was standing room only in a 500-seat theater at each of the three daily showings of "Around the World in Pictures." It utilized six projectors to fill three giant screens with impressive panoramic views or separate images along with appropriate sound effects and live narration.

The pictures were a practical demonstration of how to take good travel pictures. I hope many in the audiences learned that it is worth the effort to try to take pictures at the moment you are impressed with a scene, especially at sunset and when natives are absorbed in their own activities. The authenticity of natural action is so obvious that one wonders why American tourists continually persist in pointing their cameras and commanding subjects to "Look in the camera!"

Among the outstanding exhibitions were Robert B. Goodman's exciting views of Australia; famed child photographer Harry Garfield's vacation pictures in Guatemala and Mexico called "Photographer's Holiday;" "Portraits of the Famous" by Morris Warman, prize-winning photographer for many years on the New York Herald Tribune and the dramatic black and white photo renditions by Reginald Wickham of Teaneck, N.J.

Personality, I learned again how much time and trouble the exhibitors and lecturers put in before and after a photo show. It required between six and eight hours to prepare and assemble all the props for one of my "Photo Magic" performances which takes about 50 minutes to stage. But all the time and effort is worth while when you feel the warmth, enthusiasm and rapport of the audience.

It's an entirely different kind of reaction which a photographer feels when he observes people studying his photos on exhibition. There is no direct contact with the spectators but there is a bridge of silent satisfaction which reaches the photographer. And the end result is the same: his efforts are worth all the trouble.

Use of Medical Services Not Closely Related to Old Age

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of three stories on a study of the health of older people in the small town made by University of Missouri sociologists.

COLUMBIA -- The use of medical and health services and the money spent on medical care by Missouri's small town residents 65 years of age or more do not seem closely related to age, according to a study of the state's elderly persons by sociologists at the University of Missouri.

This is one of the findings of the study which, the researchers note, "seem to be at variance with commonly held beliefs about the health of older persons and their use of medical care as well as with the results of other studies of the problem of health and health services among the elderly."

The researchers are Dr. C. T. Pihlblad, professor emeritus of sociology, and Dr. Howard A. Rosencranz, professor of sociology and psychology, who are now in the third year of the three-year study. The project is supported by three annual grants totaling $122,641 from the U. S. Public Health Service.

An interim report on their findings has been prepared by the researchers. Titled "The Health of Older People in the Small Town," the initial report presents an exhaustive index of the health status of the cross-section of elderly persons covered by the study and presents of detailed analysis, including tables and figures, of the relationship of specific physical abilities to health status.

The study is based on a carefully selected sample of 1,716 persons 65 years of age and over. The sample was chosen in such a way as to be proportional to the number of such residents in four social areas of the state, and three sizes of communities that range from 250 to 5,000 population. Each of the social areas represent geographically contiguous counties which are homogeneous in economic, ethnic and cultural features.

One of the areas (54 counties) comprises all of north Missouri and a two county strip extending southward along the state's western border. Another is the 11-county region immediately west and southwest of the St. Louis metropolitan area. The third (34 counties) is in the Ozarks (most of southern Missouri) and the fourth comprises six counties in southeast Missouri. Nine metropolitan area counties were excluded.

In noting that the amount of one will be offended. It is in fact a compliment because it shows interest.

Use the person's name when you speak to him and associate the name with a specific characteristic. Example: If the woman's name is Mrs. Fuerstenberg, and she's a doll, remember that Mrs. Fuerstenberg would come in first in a beauty contest. If the man's name is Mr. Power and he has a strong jaw, remember that Mr. Power has power. It needn't make sense -- just so it serves as a memory book.

Lord deliver me from morons who make no effort to remember names and then try to excuse themselves by saying, "But I never forget a face."

If You Were the Judge
The Flesh Is Weak but The Spirit Is Willing

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.
As the years passed, old age creaked up on Sally. At 91, she was so frail and thin that if she stood sideways she could hardly be seen. In fact, when her lawyer prepared a will for her, she wasn't even strong enough to hold a pen to sign it. Consequently, the lawyer took her by the hand and, steadying her hand, he guided it through the maneuvers of her signature.

Thereafter, Sally tripped over an orange pit and died. Immediately, several of her relatives who were dissatisfied with what she had left them attacked the validity of Sally's will.

"A will must be signed to be valid," they argued in court, "and Sally never signed hers. Her lawyer did. He merely used her hand as a pen holder."

"He only helped her because she wasn't strong enough to write," answered the executor of Sally's estate. "While she may not have signed it physically herself, she certainly signed it in spirit."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of Sally's will?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that where a person intends to sign a will, and is not forced to do so, it is not invalidated because her attorney helps her sign. (Based upon a 1963 Louisiana Court of Appeals Decision)

Marine Found Guilty of Killing Viet Woman

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Marine Cpl. Stanley J. Luczko Jr., 22, has been convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of an elderly Vietnamese woman while Luczko was on patrol.

The eight-officer Marine court-martial which found Luczko guilty Thursday night meets today to set sentence. The maximum sentence would be 10 years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

A Marine legal officer said the character references from Luczko's neighbors in Gardner, Mass., plus his "outstanding" service record could weigh heavily in Luczko's favor.

It was even possible, he said, that Luczko might walk free after a sentence equal to the 15 months he has spent in the Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Prison since his first trial where he was convicted of premeditated murder.

That trial, in Da Nang, Vietnam, led to a sentence of life imprisonment, but the conviction and sentence were overturned by a Navy Board of Review which found legal errors in the proceedings.

The woman, Nguyen Thi Co, was slain while Luczko was leading a combat patrol near Chu Lai on Sept. 22, 1965.

Formal testimony in the retrial wound up after Luczko took the stand to dispute prosecution testimony that he had slain her.

He denied statements from two members of that patrol who testified that Luczko speculated on the size hole a .45-caliber bullet would make in the forehead with his service automatic, then ordered another Marine to "finish her off."

Luczko admitted shooting at the woman, but said he did so as an "automatic reflex" after the woman suddenly squatted beside a haystack while he was questioning her and thrust her arm into the straw.

Ann Landers

Sack of Tricks Not Her Bag

Dear Ann Landers: I am a career woman 41 but I look 10 years younger. I was divorced at age 29 after a most unfortunate marriage. (It wasn't another woman, it was another man.)

Six years ago I fell in love with the lawyer who handled my divorce. He is 50, handsome and well known as an attorney. He told me he and his wife have lived as brother and sister for the past 10 years. He never speaks of his wife or their children but has assured me he will be divorced within three years (when their youngest child graduates from high school). I have promised to wait.

The problem is this: We never go to first-class restaurants or even to a movie or the theater. I am getting fed up on back-alley hiding places.

He has never introduced me to anyone he works with. I am attractive, well-dressed and I make friends easily. I cannot understand why he is ashamed to take me out in public. My friends who have met him have hinted that I am being played for a fool. What do you think?

— GRAY SKIES

Dear Skies: Same old bag of bones, Dearie: married man ducking his wife and relatives and colleagues and anyone else who might recognize him. The first tipoff should have been his breach of his professional ethics. Married lawyers are not supposed to dally with clients.

Your signature indicates that you are color blind. The skies are not gray, they are pitch black -- and the ceiling is zero. Put an end to this back-alley affair before you find yourself permanently socked in.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you visited in our city and the newspaper write-up said you had an extraordinary memory for names. Please, please tell me how you do it.

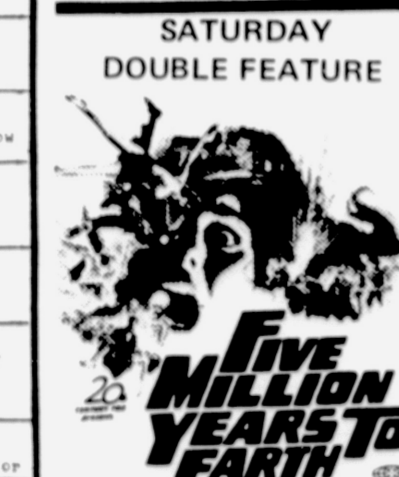

All my life I have been plagued by my inability to remember names. It has caused me a great deal of embarrassment and whenever it happens I tell myself I must be added in the head.

Please, Ann, share your secret with those of us who need this kind of help. — FOREVER GRATEFUL

Dear Forever: The principal reason people do not remember names is they don't bother to listen to the name when they are introduced. If you don't get the name on introduction, ask. No

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, June 1, the 153rd day of 1968. There are 213 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1958, Gen. Charles de Gaulle became premier of France.

On this date—

In 1792, Kentucky became the 15th state.

In 1796, Tennessee was admitted into the Union as the 16th state.

In 1801, the Mormon leader, Brigham Young, was born in Whittigham, Vt.

In 1812, President James Madison advised Congress that war with Britain was inevitable.

In 1941, during World War II, it was disclosed that the British had evacuated 15,000 troops from the Greek island of Crete.

In 1944, the siesta was officially abolished in Mexico.

Ten years ago ... The Arab League Council, meeting in Benghazi, Libya, took up a complaint by Lebanon that the United Arab Republic was intervening in Lebanese internal affairs.

Five years ago ... doctors attending Pope John XXIII said death was imminent.

One year ago ... during the Arab-Israeli crisis, the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid passed through the Suez Canal, shadowed by two Egyptian submarines.

Of all the world's fuels, both solid and liquid, coal has the greatest amount in reserve, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
